Speedy R.C.A.F. Plane Crashes Killing Pilot

J. G. Fraser Dies Near Mission When Hawker Ploughs Into Earth

Other Planes Safe

MISSION, B.C. (CP)—A Royal Canadian Air Force Hawker Hurricane fighter plane crashed on a road at Durieu, 14 miles northeast of here, early today, killing the pilot, T. G. Fraser.

Fraser is believed to have come from Calgary.

Hawker No. 317, which Fraser was flying, was one of four of the new fighting ships being flown to Calgary under Squadron Leader E. G. Fullerton, to join No. 1 Fighting Squadron. The planes took off from Vancouver and Fraser crashed about 6.50 a.m.

Two other Hurricane ships landed at Lethbridge, Alberta, while the fourth, along with a Northrop Transport, which was accompanying the flight, returned to the base at Vancouver because of adverse flying conditions.

Witnesses said Fraser's plane went into a spin before it hit Sylvester Drive. Farmers found the body of the plane shattered into a tangled mass of struts and fabric.

The body of Pilot Fraser was found 20 feet from the plane, with an unopened parachute beside it.

The motor, capable of pulling the plane through the air at 350 miles an hour, was driven several feet into the roadway by the force of the crash.

Witnesses said the weather was misty in this part of the Fraser Valley at the time.

Mrs. W. Heptonstall, near whose farmhouse the plane crashed, said she and her two sons heard the machine overhead, apparently in trouble. Her boys ran out on the road and saw the wreckage and body.

AID CALLED

Another resident who saw the crash from his farmhouse, ran two miles to call police and medical aid. He said the ship nosedived into the earth.

British Columbia police immediately threw a guard around the wreckage of the single-seater fighter. Wing Commander E. L. McLeod quickly organized a ground crew at the R.C.A.F. base here and they rushed to the scene by car.

The broken body of the pilot was brought to an undertaking parlor here.

Flying Officer Fraser was one of a group of pilots who came here under command of Squadron Leader Fullerton when the Hawker Hurricane fighter ships were delivered here for assembly and testing last February.

It was the second of the 350-mile-an-hour single seater fighters to crash since they were delivered here. Last March a Hawker Hurricane crashed into a standing transport plane during a takeoff. The pilot escaped injury by jumping from the ship which caught fire and burned up.

Powered with a 12-cylinder Rolls-Royce engine whirling a 12-foot propeller, the Hawker Hurricane is one of the fastest single-seater fighting craft ever manufactured in Britain. Each ship has eight machine guns in the wings.

British Protest Japanese Moves

Troops Called On to Guard Lives in Shanghai Region

SHANGHAI (AP)—The British Consulate-general here made representations Thursday to the Japanese concerning the safety of British lives and property and anti-British demonstrations in Japanese-occupied areas near Shanghai.

The case of R. M. Tinkler, British mill employee here who died after a fight with Japanese marines, was not mentioned specifically, but informed sources said the British were preparing to make a protest on it.

British sources said Thursday the Japanese had issued an ultimatum to authorities of the British concession at Tientsin demanding the surrender of four Chinese given refuge there.

If the four, suspected by the Japanese of slaying S. G. Cheng, official of the Japanese-dominated customs at Tientsin, were not handed over, the Japanese threatened to "isolate completely" the concessions by barricade.

Concession officials referred the matter to the Foreign Office in London.

BRITISH MOVES

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax told the House of Lords today the position in the Far East was causing the government concern and anxiety. The British government was determined to protect British interests and see that Japan observed treaty obligations. That policy would be pursued diligently in co-operation with other powers.

NEAR BREAKING POINT

TOKIO (AP)—Relations with Great Britain have been aggravated "almost to the breaking point" by the increasing number of incidents in China, a government informant asserted Thursday.

A spokesman for the Admiralty declared at the same time a "calm attitude" must be preserved if "serious international repercussions" are to be avoided.

Newspapers charged that, as the Asahi put it, Britain "is seemingly endeavoring to intimidate Japan," that she is adopting a stronger attitude in the belief the United States will back her and because she fears the resistance by General Chiang Kai-shek is weakening.

The latest of the incidents creating the present situation was reported Wednesday night by Domei, the Japanese news agency, which declared a foreign warship, "apparently a British cruiser," fired on a Japanese air transport east of Hongkong.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt signed a bill today providing the purchase of $100,000,000 worth of stocks of strategic and essential war materials in the next few years.

ITALIANS CLAIM MANY SHIPS SUNK

Participation in Spanish War Shown Greater Than Previously Known

ROME (AP) — A newspaper devoted to the Italian armed forces today declared that "numerous" merchant ships carrying supplies for the Spanish republicans in the civil war were sunk by Italian submarines.

Le Forze Armate disclosed Premier Mussolini's intervention in Spain was far more extensive than hitherto was known publicly here. In four months alone Italian ships took 100,000 men to Spain, the newspaper says.

"From mid-December, 1936, to mid-April, 1937, the period of the most intense activity, about 100,000 men, 4,370 vehicles, 40,000 tons of material and 750 cannon were transported to Spain by 52 steamships in 132 voyages for the protection of which it was necessary to employ 30 fighting ships," Le Forze Armate said.

During that period the Italian government denied it was sending any aid to Gen. Franco.

Among the merchant ships sunk by submarines off the Spanish coast were numerous vessels flying the British flag.

CANADIAN SUGAR INQUIRY STARTS

Ontario M.P. Asks Refiners' Profits for 20 Years Be Surveyed

OTTAWA (AP) — A request that the Tariff Board make a "sweeping survey" of the profits earned by the sugar refining companies of Canada during the past 20 years was made by Ross W. Gray, Liberal, West Lambton, Ont., when the board began its hearing on the sugar industry today.

Four parliamentarians attended the opening, with Paul Martin, Liberal, East Essex, submitting a lengthy brief on behalf of the sugar beet growers of western Ontario.

This industry was valuable to farmers in that it ensured a proper rotation of crops, but it was unprofitable, said Mr. Martin. The sugar beet growers were capable of filling 23 per cent of Canada's sugar requirements. At the moment they supplied only 12 to 14 per cent.

He said there were four beet sugar factories in the Dominion.

Sugar refiners, confectioners, beet growers, distillers and wine manufacturers attended today's session of the hearing.

The hearing was called at the instance of Hon. C. A. Dunning, Finance Minister, who requested the board to conduct a review of the entire industry.

Says Aggression To Be Resisted

Halifax Declares Further Inroads Will Be Resolutely Met

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — The time has passed when the independence of European states can be destroyed by the action of one nation, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax warned today in the House of Lords.

After recounting Great Britain's progress in establishing a bloc of nations pledged to resist aggression in Europe, the Foreign Secretary said it was now clear that any further attempt at aggression "would meet with wide and resolute resistance."

Lord Halifax and Prime Minister Chamberlain, in the Commons, expressed the same views, but both declared Britain still is willing to negotiate differences with Germany on condition that an atmosphere of confidence exists.

The Foreign Secretary emphasized the solidity of the anti-aggression bloc by predicting the permanent treaties soon would replace the temporary mutual defence arrangements made several weeks ago to link Turkey and Poland with Britain.

Britain's pledges to aid Roumania and Greece against attack are unilateral and require no further definition.

SOVIET NEGOTIATIONS

In a general review of the foreign situation Lord Halifax expressed hope the Anglo-Russian negotiations for a mutual assistance pact would be successful although Britain is unwilling to give territorial pledges to Finland, Estonia and Latvia as requested by the Soviet.

At one point in his speech he said: "I do not share the view that war is unavoidable.

"There are problems in Europe only too likely to lead to war, but I find it very difficult to believe that with the certain prospect of resistance those who might feel tempted to risk the arbitrament of war would not think it wiser and more profitable to resolve their difficulties by negotiation."

The really dangerous element in the present European situation was the possibility that the German people might drift "to the conclusion that Britain has abandoned all desire to reach an understanding with Germany and any fresh attempt at such a thing must once and for all be written off as hopeless," he said.

Explosion in England

STAINES, Eng. (CP)—An explosion early today preceded a fire at the Marley Tile Company close to the villages of Bedfont and Ashford, Middlesex. The villages were badly shaken by the blast.

Five minutes before the explosion, workmen on bicycles said they saw a man run from the yard and board a truck which drove off toward Staines.

Washington Gives Thunderous Welcome to King and Queen

King Hears U.S. Anthem

WASHINGTON (CP)—As King George and President Roosevelt, Queen Elizabeth and Mrs. Roosevelt walked from the Union Station to automobiles for the Royal procession shortly after noon today, the band of the United States Marines played God Save the King. The King raised his right hand and stood in salute.

There was a brief pause and then the martial music of The Star Spangled Banner. Again the King raised his right hand in solemn salute.

As the party entered the motor cars Her Majesty took a look at the glaring Washington sun and opened a grey silk parasol.

During the drive the Queen's parasol helped shade Mrs. Roosevelt as well as herself from the sun.

Luncheon Informal Affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — The King and Queen dined informally with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and members of their family at the White House early this afternoon.

Shortly before that Their Majesties had met members of the diplomatic corps. Three White House ushers and a veteran negro doorkeeper, were at the door through which the King and Queen entered. The King spoke a few words of greeting as he passed.

The diplomatic circle was a strictly formal affair with the heads of missions standing around the mirrored room in the order of their rank. The British Ambassador walked around the circle and presented the diplomats and their wives to the King, with Lady Lindsay immediately following to introduce them to the Queen.

After this colorful formality, Their Majesties were escorted to their private chambers on the second floor, where they changed to informal dress for the small luncheon with the President's family.

The President also went to his second-floor room and changed into business clothes. He worked on some mail while awaiting the luncheon hour.

The luncheon was served in the state dining room. No guest list was announced, but those gathered around the flower-decorated table were understood to include Their Majesties, President and Mrs. Roosevelt, three of the four Roosevelt sons and their wives, the Canadian Prime Minister, Lady Katharine Seymour, lady-in-waiting to the Queen; Alan Lascelles and Lieut.-Col. Piers Legh, acting private secretary and equerry respectively to the King.

President Warmly Greets Monarch

'I'm Glad to See You,' Roosevelt Says to King George

WASHINGTON (CP) — "How are you? I'm glad to see you," were President Roosevelt's first words to King George as he shook hands with him warmly, in his bluff, forthright manner, at Washington Union Station a few minutes after noon today.

This handshake symbolized the friendship prevailing between the two great English-speaking peoples who broke from each other in 1776.

King George's tanned face broke into a broad smile as he returned the greeting.

"It is indeed a pleasure for Her Majesty and myself to be here," the King said.

A moment later Britain's Queen and the first lady of the United States were exchanging similar cordial greetings.

It was a free-and-easy, enthusiastic welcome, in characteristic American fashion, marking the arrival for the first time in history, of the King and Queen of Great Britain in a city which bears the name of the general who led a revolt against England a century and a half ago.

WORDS BY HULL

Practically the only moment in this informal and almost breezy American reception was Secretary of State Cordell Hull's introduction.

"Mr. President, I have the honor to present Their Britannic Majesties."

The Secretary of State had met the King and Queen at the frontier at Niagara last night on behalf of the United States government and escorted them to Washington. The Royal train arrived at noon, E.D.T.

The King, wearing an admiral's uniform, with a blue sash, his breast covered with medals, was one of the last to leave the train. A moment later, the Queen, in a gown of mauve, appeared.

As they walked down the platform to the room where President and Mrs. Roosevelt, their family and high government officials were waiting, His Majesty saluted three times to the cheering crowd. The Queen smiled and waved.

IN RECEPTION ROOM

The ruler of the vast British Empire and the President of the North American republic met in an elaborate setting—the flower-decked presidential suite of the Union Station.

The King and Queen, after greeting Mrs. Roosevelt, shook hands with Brig.-General E. M. Watson, the President's military aide.

The Royal Couple and the first family of the United States chatted briefly out of earshot of those standing by, and then formalities got under way.

One by one members of the Royal suite were introduced to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Then high-ranking officials of the United States government, beginning with Vice-President and Mrs. John N. Garner, were in turn introduced to Their Majesties.

The walls of the room were banked with ferns and red, white and blue flowers—red gladioli, white foxglove and blue iris.

George VI and Elizabeth Ride in Triumph Through Streets With President Roosevelt

By A. E. FULFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON—King George and President Roosevelt, heads of the two greatest democracies in the world, rode in triumph to the White House through this historic capital today

Along its wide avenues and broad squares vast throngs thundered an American welcome to the King and Queen Elizabeth with ceremony and pageant more elaborate than at a President's inauguration.

The unprecedented spectacle of a British King and Queen in the United States attracted excited thousands, eager to share in the reception.

From the crowds that had assembled before dawn the King and Queen heard American voices almost rivalling the cheers that had greeted them during their Royal progress across Canada from Quebec to Victoria and back.

What was striking was that American enthusiasm for the visiting sovereigns was almost as great as if these United States were still under a British flag.

But everywhere the democratic American note chimed in to remind observers that this English-speaking country has been developing along its own lines ever since it came to the parting of the ways with Great Britain following the Revolutionary War.

CROWDS THERE EARLY

Hours before the arrival of the Royal party it was estimated more than 500,000 men, women and children were jammed along the route.

From the Presidential suite in the Union Station, where the Royal train arrived at noon, E.D.T., the King, with President Roosevelt on his left, walked out on the blue carpet leading to waiting automobiles.

As the music stopped, the artillery across the plaza began a 21-gun salute.

Here the King began smiling and laughing with the President about some exchange between them. On the 14th gun, His Majesty and the President started for their car — a long black touring machine with the top down.

HAT ON CAR SEAT

Mr. Roosevelt entered first, almost sat on his top hat, then saw it and whipped it out and put it on his head. The King smiled and stepped in beside Mr. Roosevelt. The Queen and Mrs. Roosevelt then got into their car, Mrs. Roosevelt on the left behind the driver and the Queen on her right.

The Queen was dressed in a long tailored mauve sheer suit with a bolero jacket, the sleeves of which were banded with matching fox fur. Her hat was a small off-the-face mauve felt with a large fluffy pompom of ostrich.

Mrs. Roosevelt wore a blue wool dress and a dark blue hat.

Thousands shouted and waved flags as the procession moved from the station to the White House through unbroken ranks of soldiers, sailors and marines standing stiffly at the salute.

Ahead of the procession went a police guard and army light tanks.

Overhead army bombers and swift pursuit planes flew in aerial salute to Their Majesties.

As the Royal party moved through the Capitol grounds, the King saluted the cheering crowd. From time to time His Majesty and Mr. Roosevelt engaged in animated talk. Mr. Roosevelt frequently laughed heartily and rode bareheaded while pointing out landmarks to his Royal guest.

BUGLE AND CHEERS

A bugle sounded as the Royal Party approached the Capitol, preceded by a white police car, a motor cycle escort and a detachment of cavalry. The crowds broke into wild cheering.

The President and the King and Mrs. Roosevelt and the Queen drove around the Capitol plaza. The remainder of the procession waited a block away for the drive up Pennsylvania Avenue.

The King saluted repeatedly in response to cheers as he did to many thousands on his tour across Canada. Mrs. Roosevelt waved, while the Queen, holding the silk parasol, acknowledged applause with smiles and bows.

Mr. Roosevelt often leaned close to the King to make his words heard above cheers and shouts of the crowd. Mrs. Roosevelt and the Queen also apparently found much to discuss as the cars rolled around the Capitol Plaza.

At one point where the procession passed between long lines of cavalrymen, there was a flurry of excitement when an officer's horse suddenly reared and plunged 10 feet from the car bearing the King and the President. A fellow officer quickly spurred his own mount between the plunging horse and the car.

Although spectators scrambled for safety, the President and the King apparently did not notice the incident.

AHEAD OF PROGRAM

The party reached the south entrance of the White House 14 minutes ahead of schedule. Brig.-Gen. E. M. Watson, the President's military aide, got out of the President's car first and assisted the smiling King.

The car containing Mrs. Roosevelt and the Queen halted behind and the President's naval aide, Capt. Callaghan, assisted Queen Elizabeth from the car and then Mrs. Roosevelt.

The Queen and Mrs. Roosevelt walked a few feet along the gravel drive, joined the President and the King and entered the White House.

Immediately behind them came two of the Queen's ladies-in-waiting and in the car after them Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

KING AND QUEEN GO SIGHTSEEING

Make Informal Washington Drive With Roosevelts

WASHINGTON (CP) — King George and Queen Elizabeth turned sightseers this afternoon for a tour of the United States capital, with President and Mrs. Roosevelt as their guides.

Relieved of the stiff formality and glitter that attended the official greeting of Their Majesties at the railroad station and the military display of their procession to the White House, the King and Queen left the executive mansion shortly after 3.30 p.m., E.D.T.

The Royal party received friendly cheers from people massed along the route to the imposing Lincoln Memorial on the Potomac River, the Washington Cathedral several miles away, and the city's widely-known, natural Rock Creek Park.

The King smiled and waved to the crowd, while the Queen smiled graciously and lifted her hand in greeting.

The President had changed his formal morning clothes and was wearing a dark blue business suit and straw hat. Sitting beside him was the King, who had switched from an admiral's uniform to an Oxford grey suit and grey felt hat and tie.

With the President and the King in the large black open car was Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador.

Behind them in another open car, but with its top up for protection from a scorching sun, was the Queen, in a chic powder blue silk street dress, and Mrs. Roosevelt, still attired in her blue woolen dress and dark blue hat which she wore this morning.

Rain Passes Up Royal Garden Party

WASHINGTON (CP)—One of the most-talked-about rains in recent history began falling spottily in Washington early this afternoon.

Downtown streets were drenched in a brief downpour but at the time not a drop dampened the green lawns of the British Embassy, scene of the afternoon's garden party for King George and Queen Elizabeth.

Should it spread there, however, guests could take to two tents or else don slickers which Lady Lindsay, wife of Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, previously had said they might bring along.

Canadian Legation Staff Meets King

WASHINGTON (CP) — Because of illness, Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to the United States, was unable today to attend any of the functions of the Royal Visit to Washington.

Sir Herbert, suffering from influenza all last winter, had a relapse last Sunday and now is in bed with his condition considered fair.

Lady Marler was present with members of the Canadian Legation staff when President Roosevelt greeted Their Majesties at the President's room in the Union Station.

She was presented to Their Majesties along with Dr. W. A. Riddell, Legation counsellor; Merchant Mahoney, commercial counsellor; Escott Reid, second secretary; Hector Allard, third secretary; Ronald Macdonnell, third secretary, and their wives. The presentations were made by Dr. Riddell after he had been presented by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Public Slow With Australian Loan

LONDON (CP)—Underwriters of Australia's £6,000,000 ($28,000,000) defence loan were left with 80 per cent of the issue on their hands, it was learned today.

The loan was floated yesterday and financial sources said the market was not receptive owing to previous issues by Northern Ireland and South Africa.

The bonds, for issue at £98 10s per £100, opened on the basis of a 30s to 20s discount, but later steadied at 22s 6d discount.

Sean Russell Freed On Bond in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States labor department today ordered the release of Sean Russell, self-styled "head man" of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, who was arrested at Detroit last Monday night, prior to the arrival of King George and Queen Elizabeth at Windsor, Ont.

Officials said the service had approved a bond posted for the Irishman's release pending a hearing on deportation proceedings Saturday at Detroit.

Washington Crowded for Royal Procession; 6,000 Troops Line Route

WASHINGTON (CP) — Long before King George and Queen Elizabeth were officially welcomed to Washington by President and Mrs. Roosevelt today, the forerunners of a vast unofficial reception committee of plain Americans of all colors, races and creeds had taken its place behind the taufly-drawn steel extending from the Union Station to the White House.

Enough troops to fight a small battle—6,000 soldiers, sailors and marines—were on Washington's streets to salute the King and Queen. Units of tanks and field artillery rumbled along the avenues. Seven military bands in brilliant uniforms were on parade.

Hotels reported a jam-up of visitors from all parts of the United States, anxious to see the first British reigning Sovereign in the capital of a land in which British colonists proclaimed independence more than a century and a half ago.

Four hours before the parade, street cleaners in new white suits gave the two-mile route from the Union Station to the White House a final polishing. The pavement already glistened from a thorough washing.

Bright-colored shields bearing the Royal coat of arms and arms of the United States stood out on lamp posts beneath stars and stripes and Union Jacks.

An hour before the Royal train was due a battalion of marines led by the drum and bugle corps with its red banded drums, red and blue uniforms and white gloves and caps, marched to the station to form the double ranks through which the King and Queen walked from the train to the President's room.

As the heat grew in intensity American Red Cross emergency units took positions at strategic points. The key stations were manned by three doctors and 10 nurses and there were two ambulances, three 18-men stretcher details and 50 additional stretcher bearers.

In addition to uniformed police dozens of plain clothesmen mingled with the crowds along the parade route.

Halifax Doubts Use of Conference

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax expressed doubt in the House of Lords today about the success of an international conference to settle European affairs. If it failed it would make things worse than before, he said. However, if the British government saw a chance for a conference succeeding, it would not hesitate to take the initiative in organizing one.

"Not all German claims are open to consideration at a round table, and Britain is only anxious to see rival claims adjusted on a basis which may secure lasting peace," he continued. "We are concerned to see these things settled by negotiations and not by force, for on no other terms can international life go on."

Royal Tour News for British

LONDON (CP) — The United States' reception to King George and Queen Elizabeth crowded everything but stories of the hot weather off the display pages of many British newspapers today.

Headlines ranged from a breezy "Hi ya, King!" to the Times' dignified caption, "Crossing the Border; the King's Visit to Washington."

The Times brought out a 32-page United States number, filled with pictures and articles on ajomst everything American, from contemporary literature to sports.

The Times said Britons would gain new insight into American life, and noted that "the two governments understand each other well enough and have no need to ask the King and President to interrupt the pleasures of social intercourse with business of state."

ROYAL CONCERT TRULY AMERICAN

Unknowns as Well as Celebrities to Perform At White House Tonight

WASHINGTON (CP) — When it is said the White House musical program for King George and Queen Elizabeth tonight is all-American, it doesn's begin to tell the story.

Stars of the concert stage, opera and radio whose names are world known will alternate with singers and dancers whose talents have gone generally unheralded outside their own communities.

Here are thumbnail glimpses of the performers:

Marian Anderson, negro contralto who gained worldwide recognition at the Salzburg Festival in 1935, was born in the Philadelphia negro quarter. Her father was a barber and her mother a school teacher who once took in washing.

The Soco Gap square dancers from Haywood County, N.C., are farmers, mechanics, school teachers and housewives. They will dance the "Dive and Shoot the Owl," "The King's Highway" and "London Bridge," the men wearing white shirts and dark trousers, and the girls wearing print dresses.

Lawrence Tibbett, Metropolitan Opera star, has been a popular concert singer for years. He has won medals as "the best classical singer' and for "good diction on the stage."

The Royal party are "just folks" to four young girls from Coon Creek, Ky.—Rosie Ledford, 23; her sister, Lily May, 22; Violet Koehler, 23; and Daisy Lange, 19. Lily May says she keeps a snake's rattle in her violin to improve the tone. The girls "figure" they will sing "How Many Biscuits Can You Eat" and "Knock 'em Daid."

Scarcely a radio listener does not know the voice of Kate Smith, the Washington-born singer who popularized such ballads as "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain."

The North Carolina Negro Spiritual Singers were trained by Mrs. Nell Hunter, who selected 13 musicians from Works Progress Administration community singing groups in Durham and Winston Salem, N.C., to sing "Humble Yourself" and "Wade in de Water."

Cowboy songs will be contributions of young Allan Lomax, head archivist for American folk songs in the Library of Congress. He declares he's no singer, but the guests may think differently when they hear his low throaty lament:

"Come along, boys, and listen to my tale;
"I'll tell you of my troubles on the old Chisholm trail."

Britain Celebrates King's Birthday

Queen Mother Mary Given Ovation at Ceremony in London

LONDON (CP)—Queen Mother Mary, making her first appearance in public since she was injured in an automobile collision May 23, watched the Duke of Gloucester take the salute today at the two-centuries-old ceremony of the trooping of the color on the sun-baked Horseguards' Parade.

The occasion was the official celebration in the United Kingdom of the King's birthday and the Duke took the salute on behalf of the King.

The Queen Mother was given an ovation by a vast throng as she drove in a motor car across the parade at St. James's Palace with Princess Margaret Rose.

Most disappointed member of the Royal family today was Princess Elizabeth, 13-year-old presumptive, who was forced to remain indoors wth a slight cold.

Although His Majesty's birthday was observed officially in the United Kingdom today, he will not be 44 years old until December 14. The official birthday is marked annually in June because there is better weather.

(The Canadian celebration was held May 20, when the King took the salute at a trooping of the color ceremony in Ottawa.)

OBSERVED IN INDIA

SIMLA (CP-Reuters) — Official celebration of the King's birthday took place here today in a picturesque setting of the pine-covered Simla hills with an impressive mlitary parade. The Viceroy, the Marquess of Linlithgow, took the salute.

OLD U.S. COLLEGE TO HONOR KING

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (CP)—The College of William and Mary will present a memorial to King George and Queen Elizabeth at Mount Vernon tomorrow, recalling the long-standing relationship between the British crown and the historic Virginia school.

A parchment scroll, illuminated in colors, with the coat of arms conferred by the Royal College of Heralds after King William and Queen Mary granted the charter in 1693, will be presented through Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, and the British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, when the Royal Party crosses the Potomac to the Old Dominion.

The college, second oldest in America and the first to receive a royal charter, pays tribute to King George as one "in whose person is exemplified the spiritual concept that has extended the realm of English thought beyond the realm of the English rule."

Chicago Gang Murder

CHICAGO (AP) — Dominick de Carlo's prayer book failed to ward off the vengeance of his enemies.

Two men dumped De Carlo's bullet-pierced body into the vestibule of the Mother Cabrini Hospital this morning, shortly after midnight, and then sped away in an automobile.

The bullet passed through the prayer book in his vest pocket before coursing through his heart.

The police said the 30-year-old victim had a long criminal record, but they could suggest no motive for the slaying.

Britain's Moscow Envoy Speeds Plan

W. Strang Soon to Go to Russia With British Defence Pact

LONDON (CP) — William Strang, head of the central European department of the Foreign Office and an expert on Soviet Russia, hurried home from a vacation today to rush Britain's new mutual assistance formula to Moscow.

He was expected here by plane from Warsaw late today to receive instructions which Prime Minister Chamberlain hopes will lead to quick conclusion of an agreement bringing Russia into the Anglo-French peace bloc.

The Prime Minister told the House of Commons yesterday a special envoy would deliver to Sir William Seeds, British ambassador at Moscow, "full information as to the attitude of the British government on all outstanding points." He added that "there remain one or two difficulties to be resolved."

The principal hitch is the opposition of Finland, Latvia and Estonia to Russia's desire to have a pact guaranteeing all states touching on her western frontier.

"To guarantee any country against its will would be to violate the whole spirit and purpose of the peace front," said the London Daily Telegraph, Conservative. "But it would be scarcely credible if a formula could not be found which would give Russia the firm assurance she asks."

The News Chronicle, Liberal, said Mr. Strang was not the right man for the Moscow mission. "A special envoy should certainly be sent to Moscow, but he should be Lord Halifax himself," said the paper. "Let the Foreign Secretary go, for no more important business has come into the Foreign Secretary's hands in recent years."

R.C.M.P. MAN GETS MEDICAL DEGREE

M. Powers, Laboratory Director, Graduates At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A Canadian "mountie," who wanted to be a doctor and to combine his medical knowledge with crime detection today saw his wish fulfilled when he received a degree of doctor of medical science in forensic medicine from New York University.

Dr. Maurice Powers, director of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police laboratory at Regina since 1937, was the first to receive this degree at the university. Forensic medicine is medicine as it applies to law.

A native of Rockland, Ont., and a graduate of McGill University's medical school, Dr. Powers studied here for three years, doing mostly practical laboratory work with the New York medical examiner at the city morgue and taking part in first-hand investigation of murders and suicides.

He spent his evenings studying ballistics with the New York police, and for his graduation thesis wrote "a medico-legal survey of Canadian Medicine."

Dr. Powers, son of Dr. Martin Powers, country physician and coroner, said he had early in life decided to become a physician and to pursue at the same time an interest in crime detection. The Canadian police laboratory is part of the general operations of the mounted police in western Canada.

The school in Regina, where he teaches and conducts laboratory work, has graduated 71 members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

DETROIT AUTO STRIKE ENDED

DETROIT (AP)—Seventy thousand automobile workers returned to their jobs in 16 Detroit factories today with the ending of strikes against the Briggs Manufacturing Company and Graham-Paige Motors Corporation.

Eight Chrysler Corporation plants were reopened in addition to seven Briggs plants and the Graham-Paige factory. Two Chrysler plants in Indiana also were affected.

Briggs workers ratified Wednesday a new contract between the management and the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) which called the strike. The contract giving the U.A.W. sole bargaining rights then was signed and given immediate effect. It extends to June 7, 1940.

POLISH JEWS IN REICH ROUNDED UP

Many Being Sent to Concentration Camps And Many Sent Home

BERLIN (AP)—Polish Jews who number more than 10,000 in Germany were reported being rounded up today by the Gestapo—secret police—either for deportation or concentration camps in a new Nazi effort to get rid of foreign Jews.

Jews said groups were being escorted to the Polish frontier daily after being given notice as short as 24 hours they must leave. So far only men have been involved in the drive.

Those who lost their Polish passports under a new Polish citizenship law last November are being taken to concentration camps, while those whose passports are in order are being put across the Polish frontier.

Sending of new thousands to concentration camps was interpreted as a means of putting pressure on wives and other relatives to speed efforts toward finding new homes outside Germany.

Nazi's Slayer Sought

PRAGUE (AP) — Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Reich's protector for Bohemia and Moravia, took extraordinary measures today in the district of Kladno in an effort to find the slayer of a German policeman.

The victim, Wilhelm Kniest, a police sergeant, was slain last night in front of the technical school in Kladno, a city approximately 15 miles from Prague.

Von Neurath took the following steps:

1. Banned all open-air gatherings.
2. Closed all cinemas, theatres and public houses.
3. Closed several schools "because of the agitating activity of a great part of the faculties."
4. Ordered all house windows and doors to remain locked nightly from 10 to 5 a.m., adding guards would shoot into open windows.
5. Removed the Mayor of Kladno and other city officials.
6. Introduced a government commissar to govern the city.
7. Disarmed the present Czech state police because "they failed to fulfill their duty."

If the slayer is not apprehended by June 19, Von Neurath announced, further measures will be taken.

Says Germany Makes Adjustment Difficult

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today told the House of Commons that the recent attitude of Germany on the colonial question was making adjustment of that problem difficult.

The Prime Minister made no direct reference to Chancellor Hitler's statement Tuesday that "robbery of foreign colonies" always had belonged to the approved methods of Britain and France, but he said he regretted declarations in Germany "which do nothing to assist in creating an atmosphere of confidence necessary before the colonial problem can be discussed."

DISCUSS GREAT LAKES PROJECT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Royal Visit to Washington will give the Roosevelt administration a chance to push for action on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway. This project would permit large ocean-going vessels from Europe, Asia and South America to reach inland ports like Cleveland, Toronto, Detroit and Chicago.

Adolf A. Berle Jr., Assistant Secretary of State, expects to see Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada and urge him to yet greater efforts to induce Canada to sign a treaty. The Premier is here as minister-in-attendance to the King.

Prime Minister King is believed here to be wholeheartedly in favor of the project, but he has had opposition from various sources. Among these have been Premier Hepburn of Ontario and Premier Duplessis of Quebec.

OTTAWA (CP)—Adam Bell, Deputy Minister of Labor of British Columbia, was re-elected president of the Canadian Association of Administrators of Labor Legislation at the closing of the three-day convention yesterday.

Provincial and Dominion labor delegates discussed such subjects as hours of labor, wage regulation, trade unions, collective bargaining, conciliation and labor disputes and enforcement of labor legislation.

Prize Donor Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Raymond Orteig, 69, hotel proprietor and donor of the $25,000 prize won by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh for his trans-Atlantic flight in 1927, died Tuesday night after a long illness. Orteig was so certain Lindbergh would succeed in flying the Atlantic that he went to France to greet him.

Tribute to King At Niagara Falls

Their Majesties Welcomed To United States By Secretary of State

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth crossed the international bridge into the United States last night with the swelling cheers of Canadians and United States citizens sounding a single acclaim.

Ontario said farewell and New York State whooped up a welcome in one voice. Their Majesties, first British monarchs in history to visit the United States, stood on the back platform of the Royal train waving good-bye to nearly half a million Canadians and Americans who made up the same animated crowd.

It was a colorful farewell. The throngs massed along the roadway in front of the railway station sang the National Anthem. The King and Queen chatted a moment with Mayor Carl D. Hanniwell before His Majesty inspected a guard of honor.

While the inspection went on the crowd chanted "We Want the Queen!" It grew in volume when the inspection was over and the Queen stepped forward beside His Majesty and waved.

From the train's platform, the King and Queen waved until they could only see the Canadian shore in the distance.

High point of Their Majesties' visit to Niagara Falls was their sightseeing trip to the "father of waters." Their Majesties stood on Table Rock, over the seething waters, and watched the tumbling torrent of the Canadian Falls and the lesser American falls, while Prime Minister Mackenzie King explained their wonders. The King himself cancelled his and the Queen's plan to walk behind the veil of the falls.

MANY CROSS BORDER

In the crowds here were thousands of Americans, and they helped swell the cheers that rolled down the route of Royalty's motor drive through this Border City and defied the roar of the renowned falls. United States automobiles, identified by license plates, were almost as numerous as those of Canadians.

The Royal train was drawn across the international bridge by a green locomotive of the New York Central Railroad instead of the blue locomotives used on the Canadian tour.

It was 10.37 p.m., E.D.T., when the Royal train arrived on the United States side of the falls.

Armed guards were at their posts around the railroad station 2½ hours before the train was due. National guardsmen, state troopers, city and railroad police formed a tight cordon about the station and railroad tracks leading to the international bridge.

It took less than five minutes for the blue and silver 12-car train to cross the bridge below the falls, whose floodlighted crest could be seen from the car windows.

When the train reached the station on the United States side, it slowed down and stopped exactly opposite a long red carpet on which stood Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Mrs. Hull and Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador to the United States.

A cheer went up from the crowd jammed on the station platform as the engine steamed past. A salute had been booming from the moment the train reached the United States boundary. The crowd stood in silence as the train slowed to a stop.

The red door of the observation car opened and the King stepped out, smiling and bowing slightly. He was dressed in a double-breasted pin stripe business suit, wore white collar and dark tie, having changed from the blue shirt and blue collar he had worn through the last strenuous day of the Royal tour in Western Ontario.

The Queen had changed again, the fourth time for the day, but was still wearing blue, with a halo hat. She was smiling and with eagerness stepped down from the train.

FORMAL MEETING

The King was met by Ambassador Lindsay, who presented Secretary Hull, officially representing the United States government.

They shook hands firmly. Mr. Hull, who had framed no formal message, spoke briefly, obviously from a full heart.

Later, a State Department spokesman said Secretary Hull welcomed the Royal Visitors with these words:

"Your Majesties:

"In behalf of the government and the people of the United States I have the honor and pleasure of extending to you our warmest welcome. All are delighted with your visit. The people of my country in the most genuine spirit of cordiality, hospitality and friendliness have every desire to make your stay a thoroughly enjoyable one."

To Queen Elizabeth, Mr. Hull said:

"Your Majesty:

"It is a great honor for me to meet and greet you."

Beside the secretary as he spoke was Mrs. Hull, in an ensemble of light blue chiffon with matching hat, gloves, bag and shoes.

For a few minutes the King and Queen stood with the American group on the platform while presentations were made. Then the whole party stepped aboard and the train moved out of the station, bound for Washington, not more than five minutes having been required for the welcome.

BAYONET HOLDS AIDE TO KING

Zealous U.S. Guardsmen At Niagara Falls Delays Royal Officials

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (CP)—A United States soldier, on guard duty at the station here as the King and Queen arrived, got "rough" last night with the King's aide-de-camp.

As the A.D.C., Michael Adeane, descended from the train and moved forward to the arrival platform, he found himself staring into a stern young face with a bayonet pointing directly at him.

"Hey, get back there you. I can use this thing," the zealous guardsman said.

United States officials rescued him.

Lord Eldon and Lord Airlie, members of Their Majesties' entourage, were also held back by soldiers after they had stepped from the train several cars from the platform. American officials rescued them also, but they reached the King's side five minutes late.

Police and soldiers took no chances at any unauthorized person getting near the King and Queen before they left for Washington. Newspapermen traveling on the pilot train were 100 feet away and had to depend on waitresses standing on chairs at the depot restaurant to describe the Queen's gown.

Three Drowned In Lake Huron

SARNIA, Ont. (CP) — Two women and a man were drowned yesterday when a sudden squall upset their small outboard motorboat in Lake Huron, a half-mile off shore from Kettle Point, 30 miles northeast of here.

The victims were: Mrs. Angus Ross and Wesley McCausland, London, and Catherine Batchelor, Ingersoll.

Fishermen who hurried to the rescue saved Angus Ross, husband of the drowned woman, and Ned Bissette, Indian guide, who was in charge of the craft.

REV. S. C. PARKER NEW MODERATOR

Chosen Head of Presbyterian Church in Canada By Assembly

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP)—Rev. Dr. Stewart C. Parker of St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, was elected Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada last night by acclamation.

He succeeds the late Rev. Dr. J. C. MacOdrum, who died shortly after election at the last General Assembly. Right Rev. Hugh Munroe has been acting moderator.

Dr. Parker, nominated for the church's highest position in Canada last year, has been minister of St. Andrew's for the last 15 years. He came to Canada from Glasgow, where he served in the Presbyterian Church, and is in his late forties.

The new moderator has been a member of the Presbyterian board of administration and of the budget and stewardship committee. He was chairman of the special committee which prepared motion pictures of Presbyterian mission work.

Dr. Parker served as a chaplain in the Great War, with the rank of captain. For two summers he lectured at Knox College, Toronto, in systematic theology.

Marijuana Fine

VANCOUVER (CP) — Edward F. Lesage was fined $200 in police court yesterday for selling marijuana. It was the first marijuana conviction on Vancouver court records.

Constable James Edward Murton of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police testified he had obtained 40 cigarettes containing marijuana from Lesage last March 25. Lesage, Vancouver druggist, told the court he had never considered marijuana to have narcotic content.

The elasmosaurus, giant reptile of the Cretaceous period, had a body similar to a porpoise, and an astonishing snakelike neck. It had a length of 40 feet, and inhabited the area now known as Kansas, which, at that time, was a vast sea, as deposits now indicate.

"How Are You . . .?"

JUST THE SORT OF GREETING WHICH everybody expected President Roosevelt to extend to King George, just the sort of greeting which Their Majesties would appreciate to the full, marked the meeting for the first time of a British King and a President of the United States on American soil. Said Mr. Roosevelt:

"How are you, I'm glad to see you!"

Then the Canadian Press dispatch tells us that their faces broke into smiles as their hands met, as if symbolizing a tie of friendship between two English-speaking peoples who broke from one another in 1776.

The millions of Canadians who have seen the royal smile at close range, who also have become familiar with the geniality of President Roosevelt, will be able to envisage the scene which unfolded before that vociferous throng in Washington today. And during the memorable four days that Their Majesties will be guests of our neighbors—sandwiched, of course, between the traditional formalities demanding observance on such occasions—the head of the vast and wealthy United States and the head of the greatest empire the world has ever seen no doubt will find the opportunity to say many things to one another in the simple and meaningful tone of Mr. Roosevelt's "How are you, I'm glad to see you!"

A glimpse of what Britain is thinking today is to be obtained from a London dispatch. This describes newspaper front pages as allowing nothing but accounts of the current heat wave over there to compete with narratives recounting the arrival of the King and Queen on American soil. Headlines ranging from a breezy "Hi Ya, King!" to the dignified "Crossing the Border; the King's visit to Washington!" furnish the variety of mood, while the London Times has published a fine 32-page United States number, filled with pictures and articles on almost everything American—from contemporary literature to sports. And, says the great daily, Britons will gain a new insight into American life, noting, too, that "the two governments understand each other well enough, and have no need to ask the King and President to interrupt pleasures of social intercourse with business of state."

In that lies a thought once again embellished. The New World—Canada and the United States—for long has played its part in cultivating the very friendliness which King George and Queen Elizabeth now are cementing in the American nation's capital. The two peoples understand each other well enough to continue to render that service to democracy which they have rendered for more than 100 years.

Well could the President of the United States say to the head of the British Empire:

"How are you; I'm glad to see you!"

More Aftermath

EASTERN CANADIAN CITIES AS WELL as Victoria are having their post-mortems on the enormous crowds that failed to appear for the Royal Visit. Toronto, it appears, has had to cope with disappointment which parallels that felt in British Columbia cities. Restaurant men and others who had prepared for the expected unprecedented influx into Toronto were forced to take losses similar to the losses suffered here.

Toronto's experience has been covered in a statement from T. H. R. McNally, manager of the Toronto Convention and Tourist Association. This statement is published in the Toronto newspapers. Because it sheds light on the state of mind that developed across the country and also because it is evidence that our experience was not unique, we quote it fully:

"The Royal Visit is too recent to need much detailed recital of incident. Thousands of Torontonians, who felt physically unequal to the fabulous mobs that were to congest our city, went to their summer cottages. Good loyal citizens deprived their children of the historic privilege of seeing Their Majesties rather than risk having the little ones injured! The highways were deserted. Business houses spent large sums in barricading shop fronts and in otherwise protecting their properties against the crowds that never came. The losses on unneeded construction, upon food supplies and novelties totaled a very large sum.

"An inspection tour made by the bureau of this association on the evening of May 22, and covering the territory from central Muskoka to St. Catharines, disclosed that literally thousands of people who originally had planned to see Their Majesties in Toronto were afraid to risk the much-advertised congestion. The popular mental attitude is shown by the experience of one subscriber of this association. This company accepted with apparent hesitation a statement that 250,000 visitors in Toronto on May 22 would be an outside figure. In consequence the company refrained from placing on the market an over-supply of its product. One of its retail outlets normally orders five units of product per day. For May 22 the order was 25 units. The company advised reduction and, in face of the protests of the customer, scaled the order down to 20 units. Of this number 15 were wasted.

"Mental pictures of the coronation's surging throngs in London needed only some careful thought to be dismissed as impossible of repetition in Toronto. In London there were at least 8,000,000 people to see a parade of world pageantry on a route four miles in length. In Toronto there were 1,000,000 people, at the most, to see the Royal progress over a route of 28 miles!"

Strang To Moscow

IN THE CAPACITY OF SPECIAL ENVOY, Mr. William Strang, head of the Central European department of the Foreign Office, will take Great Britain's new mutual assistance formula to Moscow for the consideration of the Soviet government. Prime Minister Chamberlain hopes for a quick conclusion of the long-drawn-out negotiations, but he informed the House of Commons this afternoon that "there remains one or two difficulties to be resolved." Chief among these appears to the opposition of Finland, Latvia and Estonia to Russia's desire to have a pact guaranteeing all states touching on her western frontier.

It is conceivable, of course, that to guarantee any country if it is hostile to such an arrangement would violate the whole spirit and intent of the anti-aggression bloc or peace front. On this point, however, the Conservative Daily Telegraph feels it would be scarcely credible if a formula could not be found which would give Russia the firm assurance she asks." Not unexpectedly, the News-Chronicle thinks Lord Halifax himself should go to Moscow, not Mr. Strang, because "no more important business has come into the Foreign Secretary's hands in recent years." What Lord Halifax's personal views are on this point we are not told. He has gone on record today, however, as saying that the time has passed when the independence of European nations could be destroyed by the actions of one state . . . that it was clear now that any further attempt at aggression would "meet with wide and resolute resistance."

It appears, therefore, the official British opinion is that the formula Mr. Strang will take to Moscow will meet with the full approval of Russia. No doubt one of the reasons why the government at Westminster has speeded up matters is the growing impatience of the Turkish ministry—which has complained that "there is too much hide-and-seek about the present negotiations." And one of the points the Ankara government has emphasized of late is that in its association with Moscow over many years Turkey has not suffered in the least from Communist propaganda, but, on the other hand, has benefitted from mutually-friendly relations. Turkey is a very important member of the "Stop Hitler" bloc.

Crop Prospects Bright

ALL THREE OF CANADA'S PRAIRIE Provinces are reporting plentiful rains and considerably improved prospects for a good harvest. Aided by recent alternate warm weather and showers, wheat is well above the ground. In Manitoba the average height is five inches, and in Alberta and Saskatchewan four inches.

Substantial showers have improved conditions in southern Manitoba, although moisture deficiency still is evident in some areas. In the northern districts the new crop is making excellent progress despite reports of minor cutworm damage.

All sections of Saskatchewan report good progress. Consistent moisture has all but eliminated early damage by soil drifting in the south, while in the north wheat has received growing inspiration from general rains. Light to heavy rains have soaked south and south central Alberta with enough moisture to last two weeks.

While these reports are satisfactory—and a large slice of Canada's meal ticket is represented by the output, large or small, of her farms—there is still another prospect which is none too gratifying for the Canadian farmer or to the Canadian taxpayer: the prospect of another large world carry-over of wheat at the end of the present crop year.

A movie studio is to produce a picture on the thrills of the public health service. They are looking for a microbe to play the villain.

Citizens of Greater Victoria will join in the appreciation manifested by the 15 community organizations of Oak Bay in the presentation to Captain F. G. Dexter in recognition of his 25 years of continuous service to the Oak Bay public schools. His career has been marked by outstanding community service in many fields. Happily, his influence and the results of his devotion to public welfare have not been confined within the limits of that municipality.

IMPROVEMENT IN B.C.

From Financial Post

New Brunswick, Quebec, Manitoba and British Columbia all had a surplus on ordinary account last year before providing for relief costs. The New Brunswick and British Columbia surpluses were larger than in the previous year and those of Manitoba and Quebec smaller.

The most noteworthy development in the provincial field during the past year has been the marked improvement in the position of British Columbia. This province, largely as a result of buoyant revenues, has come back from the verge of default a few years ago to the place where it is able to secure loans in the open market. Two months ago the province sold a $3 millions issue of 3½ per cent five-year bonds in New York at a net cost to the province of 3.75 per cent.

Refunding loans have also been sold by Saskatchewan and Manitoba, but these were not disposed of in the open market. Rather, private sale was made to institutional investors, the purchase being made by them as a gesture of good will and confidence. The immediate reason in the case of Saskatchewan was to prevent default by the province on a principal maturity on May 1.

CONFESSION

THE PLAIN TRUTH about my Northern Spy is that I have been lying about my Northern Spy for several years. Probably I would be lying about it again this year but for the fact that I don't have to any more. The fact is . . . but wait.

The lies about my Northern Spy were cold-blooded and very moving. When I used to break out in print every October and inform the world of the crop of apples on my Northern Spy and how they were just like the apples of Ontario, full of the double-distilled rain and sunshine and the sweet wind of the year (I had that distillation of rain, sun and wind down to a set formula like a recipe for apple dumpling), and when I pictured myself picking the apples in the brown October days, innocently, like a character in a fairy story, why then all the politicians would forgive me everything I had written about them for the last six months, and people who came from Ontario would break down and weep by their firesides, and my friends would phone up and ask me if I could let them have a few apples for their children.

Well, it was all false. False, but not callous. A psychologist would probably recognize the symptoms as hiding an inferiority complex, as a shield for my frustration, because the plain fact is that my Northern Spy never bore a crop. The most it ever produced in 15 years was six apples which cost me, according to the most careful calculation, around $3 apiece.

Out of six apples I distilled, by the old formula, enough sunshine and rain and wind, especially wind, to make a whole summer. Indeed, I made enough money writing lies about my Northern Spy almost to pay the cost of the apples.

Still, when you are keeping an apple tree, instead of an apple tree keeping you, it is not what you would call orthodox finance, and I found the recipe running out. I couldn't go on distilling forever, and every year the tree had to be pruned and sprayed by my neighbor, Mr. Pudbury, who had long urged me to cut it down. So I went to the highest authority.

I went to the horticultural department in the Parliament Buildings and I broke down and confessed that my beautiful stories about the Northern Spy every autumn were a tissue of falsehood to cover over a shattered heart. After all, I had waited 15 years. A man has a right to expect an apple or two if he waits 15 years. The experts of the horticultural department took the news calmly. They have been hardened by many years' association with governments.

The advice of the experts appeared to me desperate and a little insane. They proposed a major operation. They said I was to take a knife and ring the bark of the Northern Spy around the trunk. It was one of those life-and-death operations that you read about in the medical reviews, and no one seemed to know the theory of it. But if it worked I would have apples and would need to lie no longer. By this time the lies lay so heavily on my conscience that I resolved to take the chance. I suppose I was influenced also by a desire for some apples. I mean, it was 15 years, and that is a long time to go without Northern Spies once you have learned the taste of them in Ontario.

So last June I went forth secretly, with a sharp knife, holding it behind my back, for I felt like a murderer as I approached the tree. I felt like the fellow who stabbed the little princes in the Tower in Richard III. Yes, I crept on the Northern Spy, stealthily, and plunged my knife into the bark, and when the sap oozed out I thought I would faint. Blood affects some people like that.

We are a strong breed out here in the country. I clenched my teeth and started to carve, skilfully, like a surgeon making an abdominal incision. And Mr. Pudbury came and watched me and said that undoubtedly I had killed the tree and his sister Emma had died the same way with an appendix, bleeding to death, and he was all for cutting the tree down then and there.

I think he was secretly annoyed that he wouldn't be able to prune and spray it again for a dollar every autumn. Grimly I kept on carving. Mr. Pudbury said his sister was 68 when she died and here I was killing this poor tree at 15, and no Northern Spy ever bore until it was 20.

My hand was pretty shaky by now, but I finished the job, leaving about an inch of bark to carry the sap, and when I stood up I knew how that fellow felt in Richard III. I went away from there and never looked at my Northern Spy again until today.

I write this down merely as a scientific fact, to renew public confidence in the horticultural department. I write it down with witnesses to prove it that this year, for the first time, my Northern Spy is laden heavy with fruit and by autumn it will be double-distilled by sun and rain and wind, according to the old formula, but I shall not write about it. I don't need lies any more, however beautiful. This year, for the first time, I am going to have apples, for the operation was a success and the patient has recovered. As Mr. Pudbury so justly says, his sister Emma should have come to me.

OTTAWA NOT WORRIED

From Ottawa Journal

Mr. Hepburn says that a conversation he had with Prime Minister King during Their Majesties' visit to Toronto will not make him like Mr. King more—or dislike him less. The correct commentary on this is that nobody in Ottawa seems to be worrying any longer about Mr. Hepburn's likes or dislikes.

MR. CHURCHILL'S STATUS

To the Editor:—In the interests of accuracy, it should be pointed out that on the retirement of Bonar Law in 1923 from the premiership and from the leadership of the Conservative Party in Great Britain, the question of appointing Mr. Winston Churchill as his successor never arose at all.

A Conservative government was in power, so naturally a Conservative minister had to be selected, and at that time not only was Mr. Churchill not a Conservative minister, but he was not even a Conservative. He was not even a member of Parliament at that time, having been defeated at the previous election when standing as a Liberal. It was not till 1924 that Mr. Churchill again reverted to the Conservative side.

CIRCUS IN PARK

To the Editor:—As you have probably been informed, a circus has recently been occupying Central Park.

From all I have been able to gather, if one were to go into details regarding some of the sideshows and exhibitions put on by this circus, no paper would be able to print them.

It is not the purpose of this letter to cry over spilt milk. What has happened has happened. The park has temporarily been damaged. Night after night of sleep has been lost by those forced to live within a quarter-mile circle of the park, and at least one family, dreading a repetition, has moved out of the district for good.

Will the City Council guarantee that no recurrence will take place? Surely there is enough room on the Reserve near Tyee Road, or some similar isolated district, where those who enjoy these exhibitions could go and enjoy them without disturbing a whole neighborhood.

It is regrettable, but true, that the people of the Central Park area have made up their minds at election time to treat present aldermen and city officials who may be candidates for re-election, with the same consideration they received from the officials in question.

TRIAL OF PYX

From Financial Post

Canadian coins minted in 1938 are up to the standard of weight and fineness required by law. This was the result of the Trial of the Pyx recently held at Ottawa. The trial, which is the annual test to ascertain whether the mint is carrying out its duties according to law, takes its name from the box in the British mint known as the pyx in which coins are reserved for testing.

The trial was made with coins selected at random from a number of packages of the various silver pieces minted during the year. There were no gold coins. These pieces were weighed, melted down and assayed. The results were compared with a pure silver plate supplied by the deputy minister of trade and commerce. While the weight and fineness of each coin is established by law there is a certain variation allowed known as a remedy allowance and as long as the coins come within this variation they pass the test.

In olden days if the coins were found not to measure up to the standards, the master of the mint was liable to have his right hand cut off. Now, however, he could depend on being treated a little more leniently even if found at fault. In any case, he has no need to worry this year as, according to the assay commissioners, his coins were found to be all correct.

KAKABEKA FALLS

To the Editor:—You published on May 20 a cut of Kakabeka Falls. It stirred such a string of memories that I feel impelled to correct the caption over which it is printed, "One of Canada's undeveloped waterpower sites." It so happens that these falls, which, by the way, are very fine and are, I believe, higher than Niagara, were developed by the Kaministiquia Power Company, somewhere around 1903. The first development was of two 4,000 k.w., 4,000 volt generators. This was, I believe, doubled a few years afterward. The electrical equipment was put in by the Canadian General Electric Company, for which I was working. I have a rather complete set of photos taken at various periods of the work. Also one of the Falls, taken from almost the same spot your print was taken from, and what is very interesting I have a picture taken from the middle of the bed of the river just below the Falls. This shows a small group of people standing on the flat rock, which causes a slight hump in the water, right plumb in the middle of the Falls, just where the water takes its downward plunge. As a matter of fact, my wife and another lady, who is now in Australia, are two of the four people who are standing there. In explanation I might say that when the hydraulic end of the work was tested they ran the river dry for about 20 minutes or so.

Another interesting thing is that Kaministiquia is the name of a station on the main line, I think, of the C.P.R. and was mentioned by one of the announcers, when speaking of the progress of the Royal train through Ontario.

From the foregoing you can easily understand why I got sort of hot when you called our Kakabeka Falls undeveloped.

STILL A CHANCE

From Windsor Star

In an advertisement in the Regina Leader-Post, the Hanley area applies for a Protestant teacher for a school of 11 pupils, in an English-speaking district. The salary offered is only $550. But here is the added inducement: "Nine teachers married from school in last 19 years. Possibilities not exhausted. Give telephone number when replying."

Knowledge of psychology is a great asset, and these trustees have shown they are not lacking in it. They know that there will be plenty of young women willing to teach for a school year at a low salary if there is a reasonable chance of catching a good breadwinner for life.

BLAMES CITY COUNCIL

To the Editor:—My little girl, buoyed up for weeks with the expectation of seeing Her King and Queen, returned after being standing in the rear row in a dusty corral in Beacon Hill Park, broken-hearted at the thought that she had only seen the top of the Queen's hat. On the other hand, the big-wigs of Victoria had their youngsters in privileged positions.

Victoria City Council bungled the street car situation hopelessly. Then they bungled the Royal Visit. If you keep that crowd of men there much longer Victoria will be finished. They might as well cut out spending money on tourists after the black eye of the Royal Visit.

Democracy, huh! Yes, we are democratic, because we realize that we have elected representatives who are hopeless.

MAYOR URGED TO TELL ALL

To the Editor:—After reading the protests regarding the treatment accorded the up-island children during Their Majesties visit to Victoria, one is at a loss adequately to give expression to one's thoughts. To say the least, it was disgraceful and will remain for all time a scathing indictment upon those who were responsible.

The question, however, remains—just who was responsible? In an attempt to answer this question, let us get back to the commencement of things and try, by means of a measure of intelligent deduction, to find who the guilty party or parties are.

Let me here and now declare that, judging from my own intimate contacts with Mayor McGavin and members of his council and with members of the Women's Council, I am compelled to conclude that, within their very limited authority, they did everything possible to make the visit of the up-island children a complete success. I am, therefore, satisfied that the blame cannot be laid at their door, admitting that even they could have improved upon the arrangements had they been able to foresee what I would term the result of a complete and absolute lack of desire on the part of the higher governmental authorities to co-operate with local governing bodies to make absolutely certain that our children should avail themselves of a lifetime's opportunity.

Just who was responsible for the discarding of the original plan of having the children assembled at Macdonald Park — a plan wherein Mayor McGavin promised us adequate seating and other desirable arrangements for the school children?

Why was the presenting of the colors carried out at Beacon Hill instead of Esquimalt, where this naval ceremony rightfully belonged?

Was it because of the desires of a certain individual at Ottawa, into whose hands was given the arrangement of every detail of the Royal itinerary—and whose chief object was, apparently, to regiment and protract, as much as possible, the activities and opportunities of the Royal Couple to see and be seen?

Was Commander Brodeur completely responsible for the arrangement at Beacon Hill, where some of the children succeeded in getting a fleeting glimpse of Their Majesties through the legs of several rows of sailors, while hundreds of them saw nothing at all but those naval legs, even though they traveled hundreds of miles and were corralled for several hours in grimy surroundings, without food or water, or anything else, for that matter?

No wonder these children voiced their resentment during the ceremony, broadcasting their cries, "We want the King," "We want the Queen," to the four corners of the globe.

I could continue by filling several pages with a scathing indictment of my own of the whole affair, but your valuable space compels me to refrain from doing so. I must, however, call upon Mayor McGavin to speak out and tell us all he knows. It will be a most interesting story and I am sure will help everyone to place the blame where it belongs for this tragedy in the lives of 600 or 700 young people.

W. C. HAMILTON, Mayor.

Esquimalt Royal Visit Praised

Outside Schools Send Thanks for Fine Treatment of Their Children

The Esquimalt Council looked back last night over the municipality's share in the Royal Visit, and decided it was good.

Before the council were two letters of thanks—called by Reeve Alexander Lockley "gratifying when compared with the controversy over the up-island children" from schools outside Greater Victoria which were given places on the Royal route through Esquimalt.

The Langford School Board wrote its appreciation of the way in which its children were cared for. All, it said, had a splendid view of Their Majesties and spent an enjoyable and memorable day.

"All the official arrangements in Esquimalt," the letter added, "appear to have been carried out in the most satisfactory manner."

The Happy Valley School Board sent its thanks for the kindness of Esquimalt in providing space for its pupils, also saying all had had fine views of the King and Queen. It also commended the helpfulness and courtesy of the police, and congratulated Esquimalt on the taste shown in the decorations.

VISIT COST $1,000

Allowing for public and official contributions, the Royal Visit cost Esquimalt about $1,000 for decorations, it was stated. The sum was $500 less than had been allowed for in the estimates.

The council passed resolutions of thanks to the municipal school board for a contribution of $300 toward the costs, to the Esquimalt Community Club for transporting aged and infirm residents to grandstand seats, and to some of its own members for special work.

An offer from the Hillcrest Tennis Club to train any juniors in the municipality free of charge in return for the use of courts in Bullen Park was accepted by the council with thanks. The club will provide balls and nets and will give expert coaching two nights a week to any players of 18 years or under.

The municipal zoning appeal board—Major G. H. Sisman, J. R. Saunders and Arthur Crease—was asked to act as a board of fence-viewers in response to a request made by a resident under the Line Fences Act.

Reeve Lockley was reappointed the council's representative on the board of directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

May accounts totaling $11,089 were passed on submission by the finance committee.

Cereal in Top Hat and Tails

by Mary Blake

I suppose evening dress is hardly the thing for a breakfast food. But I don't know any better way to describe cereal "creamed" with Irradiated Carnation Milk. There's a rich, creamy flavour to Carnation that just makes any cereal taste better.

The smooth richness you notice immediately when Carnation is used to cream cereals and coffee, is there, also, in cooked dishes—cream soups, cream sauces, puddings, frozen desserts. Carnation is just whole milk with part of the natural water taken out; sterilized so it keeps on the pantry shelf indefinitely; homogenized to give every drop equal creamy smoothness; irradiated for extra "sunshine" vitamin D.

The same processes which make Carnation Milk so good for cooking, make it a safer, more digestible milk for babies. It gives them an extra helping of "sunshine" vitamin D which all babies and children should have.

There are glorified recipes of all kinds in the beautifully illustrated Carnation Cook Book—15c (postpaid). Carnation Company Limited, Abbott St., Vancouver, B.C.

Queen and Wife of President Both Busy Women

Are Dissimilar in Appearance But Share Interests

By BETH CAMPBELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Elizabeth of England, the smiling clear-eyed Queen who has endeared herself to millions in Canada, and Eleanor Roosevelt, hospitable, generous first lady of the United States, brought a wealth of common interests to their widely-heralded meeting here today.

Britain's Queen, revered by Canadians who have come to know her well in the short three weeks that have elapsed since her arrival on this continent, was fresh from a tour during which she mixed with crowds, as democratically as Mrs. Roosevelt does, and won many friends by her own direct, simple gracious manner.

Her hostess, whose role of first lady has not the official status accorded a queen, had a string of similar friend-making tours behind her that have endeared her to the American populace.

SHARP CONTRASTS

In appearance the two—whose leadership has been recognized by women the world over—contrasted sharply. Mrs. Roosevelt, 54, six feet tall, towered over the 38-year-old Queen, who is five-feet-five.

The Queen's brown hair is quite dark, Mrs. Roosevelt's is lighter and greying.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who yesterday made a speech, attended a tea and calmly supervised last-minute preparations for the Royal Visit, has indicated some worry about the hard schedule of the "young Royalties," as she calls her guests.

Queen Elizabeth apparently enjoys it all. In Calgary, she took the King by the sleeve and led him into full view of some spectators who hadn't been able to see him.

En route to Vancouver, she rode in the cab of an engine without ruffling her dainty frock or pink orchids. She blinked, but smiled at the smoke of an Indian fire at Fort William. When the Dionne quintuplets kissed her, she kissed them back.

Perhaps Mrs. Roosevelt, like all Washington, wondered whether Queen Elizabeth would do anything unscheduled on her closely-scheduled visit here.

Is Elected President For 20th Year

The annual meeting of Rockland Park W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. J. P. Hicks, Drake Avenue. The president, Mrs. John Hall, took the chair and conducted the devotional period in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. G. S. Twamley. One new member was welcomed, also Miss Sproule, a youthful member of many years' standing.

Among the reports given was one from delegates to the Embargo Council, the Scientific Temperance course for Sunday schools, and Little White Ribboners, the latter showing two new names on the roll. The secretary reported steady growth in membership and interest in all departments. Mrs. Hall gave a summary of the address given by Rev. R. J. McIntyre to the Metropolitan Church W.M.S. recently.

A communication was read from Mrs. F. W. Laing, vice-president, who is on a visit to the San Francisco Fair, reminding the members of the 56th annual provincial convention to be held in Emmanuel Baptist Church, September 19 to 22. Plans were discussed and offers of hospitality for delegates were received from those present.

All officers were returned by acclamation and thanked for their work during the past year. This makes the 20th year in the chair for the president, Mrs. John Hall. A pleasing interlude occurred when Mrs. Harvey Dobson gave two beautiful vocal solos.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Giffin of Vancouver, Mrs. Dobson and Mrs. G. Browne.

Garden Fete Success

An enjoyable garden party was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Giles, Boleskine Road, under the auspices of St. Mark's Woman's Auxiliary. The tea table decorations were under the capable management of Mrs. C. Porter, and the home cooking stall was convened by Mrs. C. Heathfield and Mrs. H. C. Sexsmith. Ice cream, which was kindly donated by Mr. W. Bridges, was dispensed by Mrs. J. W. Higham and Mrs. Harper. Mrs. Wilson was at the receipt of custom. Mr. N. Smith and Douglas George took charge of the clock golf and Mesdames Fisher, Jull, Woodward, George and Miss M. George were in charge of the games. Miss C. Cook read the teacups. Mesdames Cox, Harrison and Davis were in charge of the kitchen arrangements and Grace Giles, Marion Jull, Elsie George and Edna Fielder waited on the tables. Miss Rose, and Mr. George won the sugar building contest, Miss Dorothy Bruce and Miss Graham won the bean contest and Mr. McMillin and Mr. Bassett won prizes at clock golf.

Irate Housewives Close Dusty Road

NUREMBERG, Pa. (AP)—Irate housewives, standing firm while husbands cheered, closed a road through this little mining town for five hours yesterday—because dust played heck with the housework.

They talked it over Tuesday night, after a day during which passing cars showered their homes from the road where a paving project has been abandoned. This morning, one of the first motorists along the secondary highway was confronted by a cordon of determined women, shoulder to shoulder.

He honked his horn. He argued. Finally, he called the motor police.

The first troopers on the scene were greeted with such a chorus of derisive shouts from the ladies, backed up from the sidelines by jeering husbands, that they called help.

More troopers arrived. They began by directing motorists to detour.

The port of Danzig is used by about 5,000 ships a year.

WAKE your sleepy appetite
Every morning eat the breakfast which does these three things
1 Gently WAKES "sleepy stomach": Drowsy morning appetites need light, tempting food. The rich goodness of crisp, golden Kellogg's Corn Flakes quickly starts your mouth watering, sharpens your appetite.
2 STARTS you quick: Once your appetite is whetted, breakfast should give you abundant "carbohydrate-fuel" to help you speed up quickly. Rich in energizing carbohydrates, Kellogg's Corn Flakes help give the drive that modern days demand.
3 Helps KEEP you going: Don't spoil a good start by a mid-morning slump. Eat a sustaining breakfast. A brimming bowlful of Kellogg's Corn Flakes, with milk or cream and sugar, releases energy for hours . . . helps keep you going strong till noon.
Kellogg's Corn Flakes are so easy to serve that housewives call them "the 30-second Breakfast." Your grocer has Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Order several packages tomorrow. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.
A stretch and a yawn and you're out of bed. But your stomach is still half asleep when you get down to breakfast.
M-m-m! Do Kellogg's Corn Flakes taste good! Kellogg's is the original Corn Flakes. No other cereal has ever matched their mouth-watering flavour.

TRY IT THE "SALADA" WAY

Infuse 6 heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh, boiling water. After 6 minutes strain liquid into 2-quart container; while hot, add 1 to 1½ cups of sugar and juice of 2 lemons, strained; stir until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding cold water or liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chipped ice. The above makes 7 tall glasses.

Municipal Officers Will Meet Here

Gathering to Promote Uniformity of Administration in B.C.

Working of municipal legislation in British Columbia and problems of civic administration will be discussed at a convention of the Municipal Officers' Association of the province here next Monday and Tuesday.

Arrangements for the meeting, first of its kind here, were being made today by the Department of Municipal Affairs under Hon. A. Wells Gray. It is expected the convention will become an annual affair.

About 70 delegates will attend. They will include city clerks, treasurers, assessors and other key municipal officers. E. F. Fox, Duncan city clerk, the vice-president, will preside.

The convention has been called here as a means of promoting greater uniformity in municipal administration and to secure closer co-operation between the different municipal offices and the provincial department.

Problems of administration and clarification of details in municipal law will be discussed. The delegates will meet the superannuation commissioner for an explanation of the new municipal superannuation scheme and will discuss welfare and relief matters with Dr. G. F. Davidson, provincial welfare officer, and E. G. Griffith, unemployment relief director.

Monday night a banquet will be held at the Royal Oak, when Mr. Gray and Mayor Andrew McGavin will greet the delegates.

Fine Iris Display At 'Inglenook'

Approximately 700 varieties of iris have bloomed magnificently this year at "Inglenook," the lovely garden on Maplewood Road created by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waddell.

Visitors from many parts of the world have been delighted with the show of iris, looked after personally by Mrs. Waddell. Hundreds of pictures have been taken of the splendid blooms.

The peonies, in which Mr. Waddell specializes, are just now breaking and will present an excellent appearance in a few days. The pansies, too, have been unusually beautiful this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Waddell have again extended cordial invitations to residents and visitors to visit their garden, which they have developed themselves.

STRAWBERRY VALE

Wilkinson Road United women's auxiliary of the W.M.S. held their June meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Allison, Lowenholme Road. Mrs. E. Boorman presided.

Arrangements were made for holding the July meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Hoy, Wellington Road.

A hitherto unknown herd of 400 wild horses was found in Wyoming, United States, during an airplane round-up count of wild life.

BOILED KETTLE WITH OLD CRUTCHES

Once Used Them Because Of Rheumatism

He was not wrong, either—this man who concluded that he would not need his crutches again. Writing of his experiences, he says:—

"For five years I suffered terribly from rheumatic pains, and I began to think my case hopeless. I also had a bad stomach, and I rarely had a meal without my food repeating on me. One day an old friend told me to try Kruschen Salts. So I bought a bottle and gave it a trial.

"After some time I was able to enjoy a good meal and to walk more freely. One morning I got up and lit the fire, and my mother thought I was crazy, because I sawed my old crutches up and boiled the kettle for coffee with them. That was six years ago, and I am now back at my old job as a chef."—H.A.B.

Do you realize what causes a good deal of rheumatism? Nothing but sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form as a result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system.

Piles Go Quick

With Dr. Leonhardt's Prescription

Many sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have found out that quick relief can be had with an internal medicine.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel is the cause of piles. The veins are congested and flabby, the bowel walls weak. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used. HEM-ROID stimulates the circulation, relieves the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who spent several years of his professional life in finding the cause of piles and the medicine that would remove them. His medicine succeeds because it tends to correct the cause.

No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, if you want to try HEM-ROID, you have our promise to give you back your money if you do not find quick and satisfying relief, after using just one bottle.

Jersey Display at Saanich Attracts Many; Sheep Winners

(By Times Correspondent)

SAANICHTON — Despite heavy downpours of rain, which, however, delighted the farmers and berry growers, the first parish show, under the auspices of the Saanich Jersey Cattle Club, held yesterday in the grounds of the Saanich Agricultural Association's Hall on the East Road, was an outstanding success.

Southern Vancouver Island's finest Jerseys were entered—83 head in all. They came from the pleasant farms of the Saanich Peninsula, from some of the picturesque islands in the Gulf of Georgia, and the more rugged farms of Metchosin and Sooke.

And with them came their owners — bronzed men and women, who take great pride in their cattle, to whom a fine cow or bull is more beautiful than the latest motor car.

LEARNED GREAT DEAL

Between heavy showers they stood around the ring and judged, unofficially, of course, each others' animals. They compared notes and offered advice. There was much competition, but all good natured, and everyone had a splendid time, and felt, at the end of the day that they had learned much.

The show was patterned after the famous Parish Shows of the Island of Jersey, home of this famous breed of dairy cattle. At noon the exhibitors and their helpers, with neighbors and many interested persons from the city, sat down in the hall and enjoyed a bountiful repast of fine things from the farms of Saanich —milk and cream, strawberries, new peas and fine cuts of meats.

Run in conjunction with the parish show was the fourth annual lamb show under the auspices of the North and South Saanich Sheep Breeders' Association. Bruce Richardson of Chilliwack judged the cattle and W. Gamble of Sardis placed the awards in tthe sheep section.

LAMB AUCTION

One of the features of the show was the lamb auction, when a crowd gathered on the porch of the Saanich Pioneers' log cabin.

Jimmy Rainey of Metchosin won first place for the best lamb carcass, 30 to 40 pounds, and in the auction that followed this fine carcass brought 52c a pound, an unusually high price. Arthur Locke was second in the carcass class, and Charles Eccelston third.

Norman W. Whittaker, M.P.P. for Saanich, officially declared the show open, congratulating the many entrants and commenting on the high grade of the animals displayed. He hoped the parish show would be an annual event.

Exhibitors ended a strenuous day with a banquet last night in Terry's dining-room when the handsome trophies were presented to the successful winners.

Much of the credit for the success of the show must go to A. W. Aylard, president of the Cattle Club, and Capt. C. F. Gibson, the hard-working secretary, who had the whole-hearted co-operation of all members.

Gandhi Traces Alcohol

BOMBAY (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi, Nationalist Party leader who is known as an ardent teetotaler, is going to make chemical investigation to determine whether his favorite beverage is alcoholic.

He said so yesterday in expressing "great surprise" at an accusation that there is 6 per cent of alcohol in nira.

Nira is an Indian concoction of juice of the cocoanut palm.

"Biggest structure ever built by man" is the way Spokane Washington, describes the Grand Coulee Dam on the Columbia River.

Jim Turner took first and second honors for the best market lamb, up to 80 pounds, with Arthur Locke second. George Clarke was first, Alex Turner second and Jim Turner third for the best pen of three market lambs, up to 80 pounds. Arthur Locke had the best pen of 10 market lambs.

Other results in the sheep section follow:

Fleece, Long Wool — 1 and 3, Arthur Locke; 2, M. M. Towes.

Plateau Area Perfect For Holiday

For those who live beside the sea, a mountain holiday is just the pick-me-up needed for a summer vacation. That is why the Forbidden Plateau, far up in a ridge of mountains behind the city of Courtenay on northern Vancouver Island, is always popular as a summer possibility.

All through the Plateau country there are trails. Some lead to startling natural beauties as the Cruickshanks Canyon, where sheer rock cliffs drop away for hundreds of feet—as if cleft by a giant axe—to the canyon floor far below. Looking down from the rim, the Cruickshanks River, one of the largest on the Plateau, seems but a tiny ribbon of light.

For the more ardent mountain climber there is a trail to Castle Rock, Mt. Fink and Mt. Albert Edward, where the strange phenomena of red snow holds vacationists spellbound. Fishermen find the Plateau lakes teeming with good fighting Kamloops trout. Geologists, mineralogists and botanists find a wealth of material and specimens to keep them busy during every hour of the day.

MOUNTAIN FLOWERS

In the month of June and early July the Forbidden Plateau is a fairyland of color, for it is then the mountain flowers are in full bloom. Many of the lakes are surrounded by four and five distinct colors that make a glorious pattern of brightness under the brilliant sunshine. The heather, too, is in bloom and the scent of the heath in the clear mountain air is truly unforgettable to those who have experienced its intoxicating tang. August brings long days of sunlight. September is a beautiful month, too, for early morning frosts turn the trees on the higher levels a bright clear yellow.

There are two ways of approaching the Plateau. By way of Bevan and a private motor road to the Forbidden Plateau Lodge near the summit of Mount Beecher, or by way of Dove Creek to the north, then by packtrain or on foot to Croteau Camp in the very heart of the plateau country.

A MOUNTAIN LODGE

Forbidden Plateau Lodge is a delightful resort perched high on one side of a mountain with a view down over the surrounding country to Comox peninsula, the sea and snowcapped mountains far off on the mainland shore. It is modern and up-to-the-minute in every way, with comfortable suites and rooms, a delightful lounge with a great stone fireplace, hot and cold water; a wide veranda and a pretty garden. Appetizing, well-cooked meals are served.

In connection with the Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Wood have built rustic cabins at several of the lakes in the heart of the plateau. Parties from the Lodge do not need to return to Mt. Beecher at nightfall, for these cabin shelters are well provided with comfortable beds and good food. There are guides and horses for hire at the Lodge. Mr. and Mrs. Wood have the happy faculty of making all who stay there enjoy their holiday, whether it be resting in the clear air of Mt. Beecher, or exploring further into the wonders of the Plateau.

CROTEAU CAMP

The Dove Creek trail to Croteau Camp must be taken on foot or horseback. It stretches from the highway for nine miles into the heart of the hills. It wanders down into valleys and up over ridges, beside rivers and waterfalls and under tall trees that reach far into the blue sky. Wild birds call in the bushes and there are blueberries and huckleberries to gather on the way.

Croteau Camp is a tent camp pitched right on the edge of Croteau Lake. Warm, weatherproofed tents under the great trees, around a centre log diningroom where the whole camp gathers when night falls to listen to Monsieur Croteau weave his tales of the Plateau country. Croteau Camp is within easy reach of all the most noted wonders on the Plateau and within sight of Mount Albert Edward and the red snow. There is a pack train in twice a week, more often if required. A coffee shop and rest haven at the foot of the trail just at the highway is a welcome spot either going in or coming out on the Dove Creek trail. There are guides and ponies for hire. There are comfortable beds and good food at Croteau's, and a view it is impossible to describe.

For a mountain holiday put on your this-year's list the Forbidden Plateau. There is something to please everyone there, whether they be energtic mountain climbers or just plain holiday seekers.

Enchanting scenery of Forbidden Plateau.

Seaview Court At Saltair

The little summer community of Saltair is well named. It lies in a curve of the Island Highway overlooking the sea, just three miles north of Chemainus. There is a clear, salty tang in the air, healthful and full of zest, and the view out beyond the island to the mainland mountains is one that is never to be forgotten. Saltair has the name of being a health-giving resort. It has brought rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes back to many a jaded holiday-seeker.

The Seaview Auto Court is a delightful holiday camp. Tiny white cottages trimmed in a deep shade of blue and with bright-patterned curtains at the wide windows, nestle deep in the shade of green trees in a semi-circle above the shore. There are garden seats, cosy nooks, and a pleasant stretch of beach. The cottages are spotlessly clean and furnished with good beds and attractive fittings. There are showers and every sanitary convenience in the auto court. In connection with the camp there is a pleasant games court. There is warm sea bathing.

Seaview Auto Court is under complete new management this season. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. C. Palmer, formerly of Cowichan Bay, are in charge. Mr. Palmer has a new cabin launch and is prepared to take fishing parties from the camp. Short cruises among the islands and moonlight cruises are planned.

Saltair is an excellent holiday centre for vacationists. There are many interesting places to visit and delightful walks in the district. Seaview Auto Court has an excellently stocked supply store, vegetables and fruits in season fresh from their own farm. Meat is delivered daily.

Oak Bay Honors Captain Dexter

Presentation to Elementary School Head For 25 Years' Service

Fifteen public and private bodies in Oak Bay joined yesterday afternoon in honoring Captain F. G. Dexter, supervising principal of the Willows and Monterey elementary schools, for a quarter-century of continuous service to the municipality.

Picked students from the two elementary schools presented to him a large silver tray and a case of silverware and a silver rose bowl for Mrs. Dexter. The gifts were accompanied by an illuminated address setting forth his record of service and stating the municipality's thanks.

On the tray were inscribed the names of the 15 organizations which had subscribed to the gifts: The Oak Bay Council, Oak Bay School Board, St. Mary's Men's Guild, St. Mary's Sunday School, Oak Bay Friendly Help; Oak Bay, Monterey, Willows, Cranleigh House, St. Michael's and Glenlyon Schools; Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E.; Oak Bay Wanderers Rugby team, Oak Bay Schools' Athletic Association, and East Victoria Girl Guides.

After the presentation K. W. Symons, president of the Oak Bay Schools' Athletic Association and chairman at the ceremony, handed to Captain Dexter a purse as a further mark of the community's regard and gratitude.

Captain Dexter's patience and perseverance, said Mr. Symons, had been the qualities which had most endeared him to all those with whom his work brought him in contact.

Reeve R. R. Taylor spoke briefly congratulating Captain Dexter on his 25th anniversary in the educational service of Oak Bay and praising his readiness to serve the municipality on all occasions.

Apparently taken by surprise by the presentation, Captain Dexter said he was overwhelmed by the kindness and generosity of his Oak Bay friends and added the co-operation and loyalty of the students had always made his work pleasant.

As he finished speaking the massed students of all Oak Bay's schools gave him rousing cheers.

KIPLING SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

A. E. G. Cornwell Re-elected President for Seventh Consecutive Term

At the annual general meeting of the Victoria Kipling Society held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Church last evening, A. E. G. Cornwell was re-elected president for his seventh term of office. Mr. Cornwell founded the society here seven years ago.

Other officers elected were: K. C. Symons, vice-president; Mrs. W. J. Neal, secretary-treasurer; Mesdames Church, D. C. F. McArthur, M. Barclay and E. Fryer and J. A. Thompson and P. Oliver, executive.

The retiring secretary-treasurer, T. A. Simmons, who had held office for the past six years and who assisted in the forming of the society, was accorded a vote of thanks for his services and support.

The secretary-treasurer's report showed a successful year with increases in membership and financial standing.

It was decided that the annual visit to the Fairbridge Farm School would be held in August. A letter of respect and loyalty to His Majesty during his stay in Victoria, was acknowledged through his private secretary.

A competition to test the knowledge of the members of Kipling's writings, was won by Mrs. M. Barclay. The competition was arranged by Mr. Symons who presented as a prize, Kipling's" Captains Courageous."

Work to Save Music Festival

Annual Meeting Discusses Ways and Means; Allan Craig Elected President

In an effort to save the Victoria Musical Festival from collapse, members of the association met for three hours in the Council Chamber of the City Hall last night, elected new officers and offered numerous suggestions, which they hoped would place the festival on a better financial footing, by making it appeal more to the general public.

Allan Craig was unanimously elected president for the coming year. Other officers named were W. H. Leggatt, first vice-president; Harold Beckwith, second vice-president; Mrs. J. Hebden Gillespie, third vice-president; treasurer, L. K. O'Neill; corresponding secretary, Frank Tupman; recording secretary, Jack Smith; directors, Mrs. Cyril Tice, Warren W. Martin, A. W. Trevett, Mrs. W. Ellis and B. C. Bracewell.

Members criticized Department of Education regulations which prohibit award of marks in children's ensemble pieces. They felt parents and children lost interest when they could not learn what were the marks obtained.

"If the government insists we use these rules, let us make the government give us a grant," one member said.

Admission fees came in for strenuous criticism, the general membership feeling in the past they have been too high. Members of the new executive said they would consider reduction in fees next year.

There was a big drop in admissions this year, compared to 1938, Treasurer O'Neill's report showed. In 1938 they amounted to $1,229, this year they dropped to $990. Membership fees also fell, from $441 in 1938 to $398 this year.

Adjudicator's fees and expenses amounted to $1,190, which was a drop from $1,436 the year before. Other expenses fell also.

The year was ended with a bank deficit of $11, and to cover this membership fees were collected last night.

P. C. Routley, retiring president, who presided, traced the activities of the last year in his report.

"It is for the new board to consider seriously the reasons for the falling off of public support of the festival," Mr. Routley said in his report.

"Allow me to remind members of the words of Dr. Staton, one of the adjudicators, that 'it would be a disgrace for the capital city of British Columbia to be the first city in Canada to lose its festival'—a medium through which the community can foster musical training and encourage and train listeners.

"Unfortunately the festival, as in years past, had to contend against counter attractions—the one bright spot in the financial picture was the final evening at the Empire Theatre, which was well attended.

The report of the ladies' auxiliary to the association was read by Mrs. J. E. Barnett. Ladies of this group were heartily thanked by the president, and the other officers for their splendid work during the year.

DiMaggio Back And Yanks Win

Baseball Champs Stop Losing Streak By Victory Over Chicago

The world champion New York Yankees at last know what it is like to have a shake-up. Alarmed at the team equalling its worst slump of the season—two losses in a row—manager Joe McCarthy not only benched one man, but he switched the sixth and seventh men in his batting order.

The effect was instantaneous. Joe DiMaggio, making his first appearance in centrefield in more than a month, hit a triple to bring in a run in his first time at bat and the Yankees were away to a 5 to 2 victory over Chicago White Sox.

At the time he injured his right leg in a game April 29 DiMaggio had hit safely in seven consecutive contests and had an average of .435. Although he got no other hits yesterday, his reputation still was good enough to get him an intentional pass in the fifth inning, filling the bases and figuring in the three-run rally which was New York's margin of victory. Lefty Gomez earned his fourth triumph of the season.

Washington Senators handed a double drubbing to Cleveland Indians, 10 to 4 and 13 to 9, coming from behind in the second game with a seven-run outburst in the ninth inning.

Philadelphia Athletics barely kept half a game ahead of the Senators in the sixth place with a 5 to 4 decision over Detroit. Boston Red Sox' game at St. Louis was rained out and rescheduled in a doubleheader today.

Cincinnati Reds recovered from their trouncing by New York Giants sufficiently to squeeze past the Phillies, 5 to 4, even though outhit by 13 to 8.

The Giants, who had collected 20 hits and seven homers the day before, were held to five safeties by Claude Passeau as the Chicago Cubs opened their series with a 7 to 1 victory. Four errors helped Chicago along and so ruffled manager Bill Terry of the Giants that he released Tony Lazzeri, who made two of the boners.

Bill Swift's first start of the season resulted in a 2 to 0 shutout in favor of Pittsburgh Pirates at Boston. He batted in one of the runs.

St. Louis Cardinals drove Van Mungo out of the box in the sixth inning and beat Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 3, in a night game.

COAST LEAGUE

A first-inning home run with one on by catcher George Detore put San Diego Padres back in fourth place in Coast League baseball today. The Padres moved up from sixth place past Hollywood and Oakland after a couple of weeks in the second division.

Detore's circuit clout was off Oakland's pitcher, Ben Cantwell, and gave the Padres a 3 to 1 victory over the Oaks at San Diego yesterday.

Los Angeles increased its league lead to two and a half games by beating Hollywood at Los Angeles last night, 7 to 4, on a three-run splurge in the seventh which chased Wayne Osborne from the mound.

Four runs scored in the first inning proved the winning margin at San Francisco as the Seals rang up a 7 to 3 win over Seattle.

Dick Barrett, diminutive right hander, allowed all seven Seal runs in the six innings he pitched. He was relieved by Red Van Fleet. Lou Koupal pitched smooth ball for San Francisco, clamping down in the pinches although he was touched for 10 hits.

Once again Sacramento and Portland traded places in the league basement. At Sacramento the Beavers pounded out a 10 to 5 victory to move out of the cellar in favor of the Senators.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

DROPPED IN for a chat today with Billy Moresby, big boss in Victoria lacrosse. With the new season well launched and the players having the advantage of a brand new indoor court at the Willows, was interested to learn how the sport was going over, both in a financial way and from the standpoint of development.

Was pleased to hear the boxla boys have been keeping their heads above water from a financial viewpoint and up to the present have been more than able to pay their way. Moresby made the announcement that the Indians, owing to the fact that a large number of their players will be leaving this season to go hop-picking, had decided to drop out of the senior division. That will leave four clubs, Alert Service, Conservatives, James Bay and Navy.

For the benefit of the league it is just as well the Braves have been forced to give up their place. Owing to lack of players the Indians have not been able to make much of a showing and their club has not had the ability to provide the remaining clubs with the kind of competition that pleases the cash customers.

A note of warning to the other managers in the senior loop. Box lacrosse is an infant sport in Victoria and must be babied along if it is going to gain the success expected. Managers and players must realize the main point is to make the games interesting for the supporters they are now attracting. The keen desire to win must not be stressed too greatly. Evenly balanced clubs and keen, bitterly-fought close engagements are what should be striven for.

According to Moresby there are sufficient players in Victoria to provide for four evenly-matched senior outfits. The game, young as it is, will suffer a serious setback if one or two of those four become too strong. Lack of keen competition has killed more than one sport and it will do the same to box lacrosse. The Willows court provides first-class playing conditions and the boys want to take advantage of it.

To provide the boxla fans with some first-class lacrosse, Moresby and his fellow commissioners are aranging for two out-of-town engagements. Feature will be a regular mainland league game, preferably New Westminster Adanacs vs. Vancouver Burrards. These clubs both boast young players and would give the fans a rattling smart exhibition. The second attraction will be an exhibition between Nanaimo and Victoria. Boxla has been going over well up island and they can send down a smart aggregation.

In connection with the invasion of the two mainland clubs, Moresby told us an interesting story on just how the Victoria commission secured the money necessary to provide the guarantee. It appears that back in 1905 the Oak Bay Park Athletic Association was organized by Rev. W. W. Bolton, Tom Hooper, Harry Austin and John A. Virtue, all of whom have heard the call of the Great Referee. The group had as its aims and objects, sports promotion, mainly lacrosse, and was incorporated under the British Columbia Societies' Act. As years went on the association dropped into the background and certain monies were left lying in the bank.

It was not until 1924 that the association again was heard of, that occasion being when it was struck off the list of incorporated societies and the money deeded to the Crown. Recently Moresby, with the able assistance of the Bank of Montreal, was able to have the money, which had increased considerably from the

Langford Race Meet Saturday

Four Top-notch American Automobile Racing Pilots and Cars Booked

Automobile racing will be back for thrill-seekers Saturday night when American and island drivers and cars compete at the Langford speedway.

Popular everywhere he goes for his daring yet competent driving, Swede Linskog, Seattle, will head the American drivers booked for action. In addition there will be Lou McMurtry at the wheel of Car No. 62; Car No. 27, driven by Jud Taylor last week and a new Ford Special. Drivers for the last two cars will be announced later.

In addition to the time trials which will open the program at 7.45, there will be eight different events: Helmet dash, four heat races, match race, stock car race and the main event.

The pick of local drivers and cars will be in the running with Bert Sutton leading the way. Jerry Vantreight, who turned in a great performance last week, despite the fact that he is a comparative newcomer, Digger Caldwell and Jimmy Laird will make up the local entry, all with fast cars, promising some good competition.

Each local car has been tuned to near perfection reports this morning showed. Sutton, who drives Car No. 1, owned jointly by himself and Jack Smith, had the power plant conk out on him while driving a spectacular race in the main event of last week's card. The engine has been completely overhauled.

EXPECT 20 TO 25 ENTRIES IN DERBY

Local Youngsters to Vie For Silverware in Wheeled Soap Boxes Saturday

Between 20 and 25 entries are expected to face starter Chief John McLellan in Saturday afternoon's soap box derby down Yates Street hill, Morris Kersey, chairman of the entry committee, announced today. The meet, which is under the sponsorship of the Victoria Kinsmen Club, will start at 2.

Officials report that arrangements are completed and that the youngsters who have already entered are keenly awaiting the competitions. The Colonist trophy is the main piece of silverware at stake. Contestants will be divided into heats, the winners of each heat to meet in a final race for the trophy.

Other cups will also be presented, F. W. Francis Cup for the most realistic car; Kinsmen Club Cup for the car showing the most obviously amateur workmanship; also cups for first and second place in the various heats. All contestants will receive a prize.

A special display of the cars entered in the race will be held in the showrooms of Wilson and Cabeldu Ltd., next to the Dominion Theatre.

Following service club heads will act as judges: G. Hamilton Harman, president of the Rotary Club; A. M. Kirk, vice-president of the Kiwanis Club, and Tommy Stevenson, president of the Revelers Club.

Diminutive Caskie Is Outstanding

Right Winger of Tourists Gives Brilliant Display; Jones Scores Twice

Displaying brilliant ball control, working their short passes with machine-like precision, and playing real Scottish style football, the touring Scottish Football Association team whitewashed Victoria 6 to 0 before 1,300 at the Athletic Park last night. Score was 3 to 0 at half time.

Conditions were ideal, with bright sunshine and a lightning-fast pitch. Although the Scots won by a wide margin and had complete control of the play throughout the 90 minutes, they were somewhat of a disappointment. For the pick of Scotland, the club lacked the scoring drive that has featured other clubs from the Old Country.

For smart footwork, the visitors showed the spectators plenty, with little Jimmy Caskie. Everton, outside right, being the outstanding man on the field. This pint-sized winger took the eye of the fans with his brilliant play and near-perfect crosses. Big, blond-thatched Jimmy Dykes, Hearts, at centre half, was another who gained the fancy of the crowd. Well over six feet, he was a standout on defence, with the Victoria forwards finding him in their way most of the time.

LOCAL BACKS SHINE

Back division of the Victoria team played a strong game. For 22 minutes they held the Scots out and it was not until the second half that they tired under the pressure. Wally Rowe, in goal, was outstanding. Several of his saves, especially in the first half, were miraculous, with the visitors pouring in shots from every angle of the field. Glen Robbins played well at centre-half, but tired badly toward the finish. All in all, the backs and halves worked well together, but they just couldn't keep pace with the checkerboard passing style of the visitors. It ran them off their feet.

The Victoria forwards failed to show anything. During the 90 minutes they had only four chances to break through and they muffed those. Passes of the local front-rankers were continually going to the feet of the Scottish halves and backs, with the result they cleared with ease.

Johnny Dawson, Scottish international goalie, had the softest job on the field. He was forced to smother a couple of ground shots with forwards in on top of him, but never had a dead-on hard drive to clear all night.

After Lieutenant-Governor E. W. Hamber had been introduced to the players and kicked off the ball, the game got under way, with the Scottish team in possession. Playing with the sun in their eyes, the Scots seemed unable to get their smooth play functioning. Victoria carried the attack, with Alex. Ross forcing a corner off Dykes. Bell's kick was cleared and then the right-winger drove over the bar. Ross passed up a fine scoring chance when he was away on a pass from Bell, beat Ellis, only to have Dawson rush out and smother the ball. Rowe made a grand save from Caskie, kicking the rebound to touch. Gillies sent in a wicked drive from the left wing that Rowe pushed around the post. At the other end, Scotty Stewart fired a first-timer that was miles wide.

OPENING GOAL

At the 22-minute mark the Scots took the lead, Jones punching home a rebound from Caskie's shot that Rowe had blocked. Minutes later Tommy McIntyre was through but lifted over the bar when Rowe rushed out to meet him. On another fast break Ross had an opening on a cross from Bell only to shoot wide. With four minutes to go to the half Gillies made it 2 to 0 his fast shot striking under the bar and rebounding off Glenn Robbins into the net.

Second half had been in progress six minutes when Caskie beat Rowe with a lob shot from the right wing that went over the goalie's outstretched hands into the far corner. Right after he nearly beat Rowe with the same type of shot. The Victoria players began to tire and play lagged. At the 57-minute stage Hamilton made it 4 to 0, after the Scottish front liners had worked the ball in close with some pretty short passes.

Rowe was injured when he collided with McIntyre in clearing a shot but resumed play after repairs. Ross was through again only to have Dawson throw his body in the way of the ball and kick clear. After 27 minutes of the half Bolt scored the visitor's fifth goal, a rising drive from well out. The Scots switched their forward line, Caskie going to centre-forward and McIntyre to outside right. The sixth and final goal was credited to Jones on a cross by McIntyre. Caskie pulled a beautiful fake in front of the goal to give the scoring opportunity to his teammate.

Last few minutes of the game saw the Scots clowning in front of the Victoria goal. They kept the ball moving from foot to foot with the locals trying vainly to gain possession.

T. M. Robb refereed. Scotty Dowds and Percy Shrimpton were the linesmen.

The teams follow:

Scotland—Dawson, Gray, Ellis, Bolt, Dykes, Lyon, Caskie, Hamilton, McIntyre, Jones and Gillies.

Victoria—Rowe, Wilkinson, R. Bell, C. Robbins, G. Robbins, Leggett, G. Bell, Stewart, Ross, Cosier and Okell.

BACK FOR SUMMER—One of Victoria's leading athletes, George (Porky) Andrews has returned to the city from the University of Oregon, to spend the summer months with his parents. Andrews will turn out with Archie McKinnon's Flying Y track team and should add further athletic honors in the various meets here and on the mainland.

C's Cricketers Win First Game

Defeat Hudson's Bay 116 to 90 in Opening Midweek Fixture

Midweek cricket teams ushered in their 1939 bids for the Payne Cup yesterday afternoon, Five C's taking the measure of Hudson's Bay, 116 to 90, at Beacon Hill in the only game carded.

C's, batting first, lost their first five wickets for the small score of 38, 20 of which were put on by Hoggarth. But they did much better in the latter part of their innings, good scores by Petch, Fletcher and Edwards helping to boost the score considerably. Petch was high scorer with 25 runs to his credit.

Hudson's Bay were only able to field eight players for the match. Their first batsman was eliminated at 4. Jim Oakman and Percy Shrimpton carried the score to 47 before Oakman was caught by Hoggarth for 22 runs. The third and fourth wickets also fell at 47, and although George Baker and George Gardiner batted well the Bays were still many runs in arrears when the innings closed.

Track Meet Keen

Ninth Annual Interhigh and Private Schools Program Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 on the Victoria High School grounds, the interhigh and private schools' track and field meet sponsored by the Flying "Y" Track and Field Squad, will make its ninth annual appearance under the direction of Coach Archie McKinnon, physical director of the local Y.M.C.A.

An interesting meet is promised with nine events. They are in order of running, 880-yard run, 100-yard dash, shot put, 120-yard hurdles (heats), 440-yard race, final of hurdles, 220-yard dash (heats), broad jump, 220-yard final, high jump and 880-yard medley relay. In the relay the first run will be 440 yards, the second 220 yards and two 110 yards.

Exceptionally strong teams will be seen from Victoria High and the University School. These two institutions were first and second, respectively, in last year's meet with only two points between them, the relay event deciding the winner.

NO TEAM FROM OAK BAY

Oak Bay High School, which placed third in last year's meet, has announced that they will not be fielding a team. Good competition is expected from Esquimalt and the Saanich High Schools and Central Junior High nevertheless.

The 100 yard dash feature of the afternoon, will see top-notchers in action. John Stewart, Bill Brown and Bill Clarke in the recent Victoria High meet, finished the event practically in a dead heat. They will be on hand with Arnie Masters, Tasaka and Louis McCorkle from Central Junior High and other school contestants to make the race one of the most interesting on the program.

The 440-yard run should also be a thriller with Green of the University School and Glover of Victoria High, side by side. Neil Craig of Mount Douglas, should be up in the running but his best race will be against Walker of Victoria High in the 880-yard run.

Extra interest will be provided in the relay which will act as finale to the meet. Victoria High and University Schools are expected to once more make a battle of the event.

Eddie Collins and Honus Wagner to Pick Teams For Baseball Feature

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball's "dream game" will be played at the climax of the baseball centennial celebration at Cooperstown, N.Y., Monday.

On the diamond devised by Abner Doubleday when he allegedly originated the game 100 years ago, ranking stars of the National and American League will choose up sides and go to while an estimated 10,000 visitors to the centennial pageant and cavalcade of baseball will see the game.

The game winds up the day's ceremonies which include the formal opening and dedication of the National Baseball Museum and Hall of Fame and the dedication of baseball's reputed birthplace. The 11 living members of baseball's Hall of Fame will be there. So will 30-odd current stars of the big leagues.

Eddie Collins, one of the diamond's living immortals, now vice-president of Boston Red Sox, will choose up one team. Old Honus Wagner, still coaching Pittsburgh Pirates, will pick the other.

Wooderson On Way to America

Expects to Win 'Mile Of Century' at Princeton June 17

LONDON (CP) — Sydney Charles Wooderson, Britain's little distance runner, sailed for the United States aboard the Normandie yesterday to run in "the mile of the century" at Princeton University, June 17.

He carried a diary to "list my impressions," and was accompanied by his brother Stanley and trainer Albert Hill. An enthusiastic delegation from Covent Garden, where his family peddles vegetables, saw him off.

"All the best, Sydney," they yelled. "Ta-to, Lad."

Sydney, a little confused by all the noise, grinned underneath his thick spectacles and waved his diary. He was obviously a little nervous about the trip, and admitted he was tired after his record - smashing three-quarter-mile performance Tuesday night. He ran the distance in 2.59.5 to better the listed world mark of 3.00.3.

"I hope I didn't overdo it," he said. "But I'm sure a day's rest on the boat is all I need."

Wooderson, who now has run the mile, the three-quarters, the half and the 800 metres faster than anybody in the world, plans to do light sprinting and a great deal of walking around the Normandie's decks.

"It's going to be the greatest race of my life. I'm going to put up a good show and I think I can win."

He added he hoped he could break his own world record of 4.06.4, but that "much, of course, depends on the pace of the race and the state of the track."

ORION BAND TO BEAT RETREAT

Colorful Ceremony Will Be Held at Athletic Park Tomorrow Evening

The smartness and precision of H.M.S. Orion's Royal Marine Band will be demonstrated to Victorians tomorrow evening at 7.30 when it beats retreat at the Athletic Park.

Regarded as one of the most colorful ceremonies of Navy Week, the traditional drill by the band will take about 20 or 25 minutes, with men in dress uniform marching and countermarching to the strains of naval airs.

The retreat will be a prelude to the display by the Provincial Recreation classes, including gymnastics, tumbling, vaulting and folk dancing and the presentation of the Russian Ballet School artists under Mrs. Dorothy Wilson.

Students of the school will present Russian, Spanish ballet, tap and dice dancing, tableaus, songs and novelty numbers.

IN TOWN TODAY

Because he found England too unsettled for concentration, Sir Charles Bell, student of Tibetan affairs, has come to Victoria to write a book on the Dalai Lama, whom he personally knew and who died five years ago.

"Thirty years ago I was here and I always remembered Victoria's climate was more like England than any place I had ever been," Sir Charles said at the Empress Hotel this morning.

He was offered a study in the famous Library of Congress at Washington, but refused because of the summer heat in the United States capital. He will remain in Victoria until his book is completed.

It was in 1891 that Sir Charles joined the Indian Civil Service. At one time during his career he was political officer for Tibet, Bhutan and Sikkim. He became one of the most capable diplomats in India and was a member of a mission that concluded a treaty by which the foreign relations of Bhutan were placed under the British government. He was the first white man ever to enter the holy city of Lhasa and remained there 11 months.

People from all quarters of North America are commencing to arrive in Victoria for their summer holidays. Many have been here before; others have come on the advice of friends who were here last year.

A glance at the register of the Empress Hotel reveals how Victoria is known in all parts of the continent. Among the guests today are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Baillie, Halifax; Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Flynn, St. Paul; Rt. Rev. E. W. Cross, Spokane; Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hall, San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Showell, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Nugent, Santa Barbara; Professor and Mrs. J. Dawson, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pfeiffer, Sacramento; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Buchanan, Tacoma; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Challice, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. William Francis, Atlanta, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Collins, Pawtuckett, Rhode Island; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Taylor, Coral Gables, Florida and Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Peace, Greenville, South Carolina.

Thieves entered the Wharf Street premises of Robert Spouse last night, knocked the dial off the safe and ransacked an office drawer of three cheques totaling $85.34, according to a city police report. Entrance was gained by removing a board from the wall of a shed.

Gets 10 Days for Assaulting Wife

Sailor Violated Decent Standards of Manhood, Says Magistrate

The sailor who pleaded guilty this week to a charge of assaulting his wife and occasioning actual bodily harm, was sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment with hard labor, by Magistrate Hall in the City Police Court this morning.

He was charged as the result of a dispute in a Chinese cafe when he struck his estranged wife and blackened both her eyes.

A senior naval officer gave character evidence for the accused this morning, testifying his character was good from a service viewpoint but he was rather pugilistically inclined "when he gets a little drink." The accused said he regretted the whole incident and assured the court there would be no recurrence.

"This is a serious offence" said Magistrate Hall. "It is not only a breach of the law but also of the standards of any decent man. A decent man just doesn't hit a woman under any circumstances. I am surprised that a man of your years of service has done this but I am sure this is an exceptional case or you wouldn't have been kept in the navy for 10 years. I shall consider your expression of regret and assurance that it will not happen again and under these circumstances I feel justified in imposing a sentence of 10 days."

Car Drops 15 Feet, Woman Has Head Cut

Mrs. Ethel Sherwood, Albert Head, suffered a cut in the head and narrowly escaped more serious injury when her car dropped 15 feet into a ravine on the Drummond-Hay property on the Gorge Road yesterday afternoon.

Her car went through the railing and dropped into the ravine. She was forced to break a window of the car with her elbow to get out. She was taken to police headquarters by Stanley Shotbolt, 1415 Stanley Avenue, and Alfred Slocomb, 2780 Forbes Street, and later removed to the Jubilee Hospital, where Dr. A. D. Bechtel attended her.

H.M.C.S. Fraser Wins Naval Veterans' Cup At Esquimalt Meet

Brawny men of the navy pitted their strength in an exciting series of whaler races held in Esquimalt Harbor this morning as one of the feature events of the Navy Week celebrations.

The events of Naval Veterans Day attracted considerable interest with spctators lining points of vantage along the course, and sailors cheering their respective units from the rail of warships in the harbor.

The course was from the naval magazine to Lang Cove.

The Naval Veterans' Branch cup was annexed by the crew from H.M.C.S. Fraser, which crossed the finishing line first after a close pulling race, the Naval Veterans being second and H.M.S. Orion third. The course rowed in this event was half a mile. The average age of the Naval Veterans was 51.5.

Abhors War in Rotary Address

Edward F. Flynn, St. Paul Rotarian, Asks Pointed Questions

Edward F. Flynn of St. Paul, Minnesota, former director of Rotary International, abhorred war and everything connected with it in an address before the local club at lunch in the Empress Hotel today.

"Rotarians, because of their belief in Rotary's fourth object, 'to encourage and foster the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service,' must necessarily take a keen interest in the all-important question of war," he said.

Indications pointed to a general world conflict nearly any time, he continued, but could the participation of Canada and the United States in a war involving Europe or Asia be of benefit to the world in the long run?

There were 37,000,000 people less living in the world today than had there been no World War in 1914, he said. Of these, 10,135,000 were soldiers who lost their lives in the war or as a result thereof; there had been a diminution in births as a result of the war amounting to 20,850,000, and an increase in civilian mortality of 6,016,000.

The cost of the World War, it was said, could provide a five-acre tract of land with $2,500 worth of buildings and equipment valued at $1,000 for every family in the United States, Great Britain, Canada, France, Belgium, Russia, Australia and Germany; a $5,000,000 library and a $10,000,000 university for all cities of 20,000 or more population in all those countries, and an endowment fund permanently paying for the services of 125,000 teachers and 125,000 nurses and there would be still enough left to buy all of France and Belgium.

"Naturally when the nations of the world sacrifice the lives of 37,000,000 people and deliberately waste such amounts of money, dire results must follow," he said.

While undoubtedly much of the crime of recent years had been a result of the World War and while undoubtedly wars of this kind cause a delay in the advancement of art and education, it was easier to point out the cost of the depressions that inevitably follow war.

Mr. Flynn then went into a detailed account of depressions that followed wars down through history.

"In my opinion Great Britain would be much smarter to give up part of her lands in South Africa rather than drag Canada into another war," he said. "Is there any glory in dying in a war?"

Snead Leads in U.S. Open Golf

Fires Sub-par 68 in First Round; Bud Ward Has 69

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Slugging Sam Snead, the long-hitting West Virginia mountaineer, came roaring home in 33, two under par, to post a one under par 68 and take the lead in the first round of the 43rd national open golf championship today with practically half the field home.

One stroke behind Snead, with an even par 69, came amateur Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, member of the 1938 U.S. Walker Cup team.

Big Ralph Guldahl, making a bid for his third straight title, shot a two over par 71. Tommy Armour, champion in 1927, Olin Dutra, winner in 1934, and Craig Wood, all turned in 70s.

Although he was splitting the middle of the fairway on almost all his drives and was chipping beautifully, the two-time champion's putts refused to drop. He dropped one 10-footer and another of six feet, both for birdie 2s, but at least half a dozen others stayed out of the cups.

Bobby Cruickshank, veteran from Richmond, Va., and Teri Johnson of Norristown, Pa., both had 73s, one stroke up on George Slingerland of Greensboro, N.C.

Johnny Bulla, young slugger from the Chicago district, came blazing home in 34 for a 72, while his partner, Frank Moore of Bretton Woods, N.H., last year's P.G.A. medalist, shot a 73.

Harry Oakes Named Baronet

Five New Barons In King George's Birthday Honors List

LONDON (CP)—Harry Oakes, a discoverer of rich gold deposits in northern Ontario's Kirkland Lake district, today was created a baronet in the King's birthday honors list.

Oakes, who amassed a fortune from his staking of the Lake Shore and Tough Oakes mining properties in 1912, was honored for his "public and philanthropic services."

Now a resident of Nassau, the Bahamas, and a member of the House of Representatives in that colony, he donated £80,000 ($374,000) to St. George's Hospital in London two years ago. He was born in Maine 69 years ago.

Oakes is one of the five new baronets in the list, which also created five peerages, two privy councillors and 34 knights bachelor.

The honors list was published while the King was crossing from Canada into the United States and while his birthday (the actual date of which is December 14) was being observed officially in Great Britain, and included the names of three persons who helped organize the visit.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, ambassador at Washington who met the King and Queen when they entered the United States and who made arrangements for Their Majesties' visit to Washington today, was named Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath.

Alan Frederick Lascelles, assistant private secretary to the King, who made preliminary arrangements for Their Majesties' Canadian-United States tour, and George Stewart, the Foreign Office's chief press liaison officer who is a member of the King's suite, were respectively made Knight Commander of the Royal Victorian Order and Commander of the Royal Victorian Order.

Since 1919 no Canadian residents have accepted titles except during the years 1934 and 1935 when Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, then Prime Minister, recommended citizens of the Dominion for such honors. In 1919 the Ottawa House of Commons adopted a resolution asking that His Majesty give no more titles to Canadians.

NEWFOUNDLAND HONORED

In addition the King created Sir Humphrey Walwyn, governor of Newfoundland, a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. His previous knighthood was the K.S.C.I.

The new barons are:

Sir Arthur Brooke, chairman of the Northamptonshire County Council, for political and public services.

Sir Herbert Cayzer, Conservative M.P. for Portsmouth and chairman of the House of Commons shipping and naval committees.

Captain Herbert Dixon, parliamentary secretary for the Northern Ireland finance ministry.

Sir Henry Lyons, meteorologist and governor of the Imperial College of Science and Technology.

Sir Frederick Marquis, treasurer of Liverpool University.

New baronets, besides Harry Oakes, are:

William P. Colfox, Conservative M.P. for Dorset.

William J. Courtauld, for philanthropic work in Essex, particularly for contributions to hospitals.

Dr. Robert Hutchison, president of the Royal College of Physicians.

Sir Edward Campbell, Conservative M.P. for Bromley and private secretary to Air Secretary Sir Kingsley Wood.

The Duke of Kent, who will leave next autumn for his post as Governor-General of Australia, was gazetted rear-admiral of the Royal Navy, major-general of the army and an air vice-marshal in the Royal Flying Corps.

Among civilians receiving knighthoods is Max Beerbohm, noted caricaturist and author of the novel Zuleika Dobson.

Among seven officers of the fighting forces included in the list of knighthoods is Sir Findlater Stewart, permanent under-secretary at the India Office, who was made a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath.

The two privy councillors named in the list are J. S. Stuart, Conservative M.P., and Herwald Ramsbotham, whose selection as First Commissioner of Works to succeed the late Sir Philip Sassoon was announced last Tuesday.

PEAKE HONORED

Two men who have achieved high distinction in widely differing spheres and localities received recognition.

They are Lieut.-Colonel Frederick Peake, who was awarded the C.M.G., and Dered McCulloch, wso got the O.B.E.

"Peake Pasha" spent 26 years among the Arabs and has just relinquished his post as commander of the Arab Legion which he raised in troubled Transjordan. He was a close friend of Emir Abdulla and the late Lawrence of Arabia.

Mr. McCulloch is the popular director of the British Broadcasting Corporation's children's hour and has undergone 40 operations in the past 21 years—38 of them the result of war wounds. "Uncle Man," as he is known, had a leg amputated in 1938 following an automobile accident.

Lady Elphinstone, sister of the Queen, was created a Dame Commander of the Royal Victorian Lord Elphinstone, is captain-general of the Royal Company of Archers and governor of the Bank of Scotland.

Royal Visit Unites Canada

Business Helped, Uneasiness Cured By Tour of Dominion

By HAROLD FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO—A smiling, unselfish couple, oblivious to fatiguing hours of cheering crowds, the King and Queen swept across Canada and back on a floodtide of roaring devotion, entrenched themselves more firmly than ever in the hearts of Canadians and cured their people of a bad case of jitters. Today the Royal couple, at the beginning of the second stage of their tour, were given a thunderous welcome in Washington.

Two days after the Royal arrival in Quebec May 17, a Montreal clergyman, Rev. George H. Donald, sounded the keynote of the tour. He told a service club that the Royal Visit, coming at a time when it might have been avoided without much question or surprise, had done more than anything else to give fresh confidence to the troubled nations of the world.

As Their Majesties followed the trails of pioneers westward, his words were borne out by the singleness of purpose with which Canadians united to subordinate everything else to talk of the Royal Visit. European turmoil was forgotten. Canadians scanned the front pages for news of their King and Queen with the same eagerness as only a short while before they waited for the latest move in troubled Europe.

Now as Their Majesties interrupt a tour such as no British monarch ever took in history to break precedent again by visiting the United States before swinging through the Maritimes, Canadians are analyzing the visit.

BUSINESS BETTER

Everyone agrees the tourist business has boomed. The butcher, the baker, the tailor and carpenter have done all right, too. Even the stock market is better, but authorities will not say this is entirely due to the coming of the King and Queen.

Ancient Quebec City, first stop on the trail of the pioneering King and Queen, had a tourist business 65 per cent better than in May, 1938. F. D. Baril, director of the provincial tourist bureau, who announced the increase, said it was due to the Royal Visit.

It is too soon to give a detailed report for Canada at large, but D. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Travel Bureau, has some interesting figures. Inquiries to the bureau from January 1 to June 1 increased 86 per per cent compared with the same ets the increase due in some measure to the Royal Visit.

ure to the Royal Visit.

If you ask any border resident, he will tell you of the American influx. It reached its peak, perhaps, when Detroit's thousands streamed across the river to Windsor this week. Niagara Falls, where Their Majesties bade Canada a temporary farewell last night, was a repetition of Windsor. The maritimes expect a record influx.

UNITING CANADA

Intangible effect of the visit was summed up by Mrs. E. D. Hardy of Ottawa in her report to the annual convention of the National Council of Women at Hamilton, Ont. Mrs. Hardy, the corresponding secretary, said the visit served to unite Canada.

"These days of the Royal Visit have meant much in forgetfulness of that which is petty and of that which tends to divide and destroy," she said. "We have been elevated to something higher and better. . . ."

W. McL. Clarke of Montreal, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, spoke in similar vein to a Montreal gathering. He said the visit would cement the bonds of Empire and Anglo-American relations.

Gene Autry Gives Action in Cattle Rustling Picture

Critics have been saying for more than two years that each Gene Autrey picture is "the best he has made to date."

"Prairie Moon," the current Autrey starring film at the Columbia Theatre, is no exception. It's the best western to come out of Hollywood in many a moon. Plenty of action, excellent music, and a good story combine to make it an hour of swell entertainment.

Autrey and his side-kick, Smiley Burnette, are mystified by cattle raids in which the stock vanishes into thin air. They finally discover that Frank Welch (Stanley Andrews), owner of a general store, is behind the cattle rustlers, but they can prove nothing.

'Little Princess' On Atlas Screen

Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Little Princess," one of the greatest and most popular classics in world literature, comes to the screen as Shirley Temple's first technicolor production.

The screen version of the well-loved story of the rich little girl who became a slavey, which will be at the Atlas Theatre tomorrow, was produced by 20th Century-Fox to celebrate Shirley's fourth year as the screen's No. 1 star.

PLAZA THEATRE

"Made For Each Other," now at the Plaza Theatre, released through United Artists, was directed by John Cromwell. It is a modern-day drama of young married love, with James Stewart playing hero to Miss Lombard's heroine.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Voted as "the best film of the year produced in any country," by the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures, "Grand Illusion" is the current feature attraction at the Oak Bay Theatre, with both matinee and evening performances. The picture stars Eric von Stroheim in a prison camp story of the war.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR THETIS DEAD

LONDON (CP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury in a single, solemn phrase. "Their homeland will ever remember them," led Great Britain in a land and sea tribute yesterday to the 99 victimse of the Thetis submarine disaster.

The Primate spoke at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, the Admiralty church in London.

In Liverpool Bay, over the submarine's sea grave, widows and fatherless children cast 400 wreaths on the water.

The minesweeper Hebe, her decks piled high with flowers, headed a procession of naval ships out from Birkenhead to the spot where the Thetis went down on a trial run a week ago. The submarine Cachalot was among them.

Vancouver Libel Action Dismissed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Libel action brought by Fred Tyler and Samuel Bell against Col. K. W. Savory and William Wills in the B.C. Supreme Court was dismissed yesterday by Chief Justice Aulay Morrison, who expressed regret the case ever was launched.

Tyler, provincial president, and Bell, president of Branch No. 1, British Imperial Comrades' Association, asked nominal damages for alleged libel and a permanent injunction restraining Savory and Willis, Dominion director and secretary respectively of the same organization, from interfering with their B.I.C.A. work.

The suit arose from a letter sent by Savory and Wills to the mayor and other persons in Vancouver stating that Tyler, Bell and others were not connected with the B.I.C.A.

Literary Agent Jailed

NEW YORK (AP) — Eric S. Pinker, 47, a literary agent, was sentenced yesterday to two and a half to five years in Sing Sing Prison for the theft of more than $20,000 from E. Phillips Oppenheim, author.

'Man of Conquest'

The picturesque life of the colorful Sam Houston comes to the screen for the first time in Republic's "Man of Conquest," opening tomorrow at Dominion Theatre.

Richard Dix plays the title role of the man who contributed much to the destiny of our nation. A cast of thousands supports him, headed by Gail Patrick, Joan Fontaine, Edward Ellis, C. Henry Gordon, Robert Armstrong, Victor Jory, Ralph Morgan, Max Terhune and George Hayes.

The story concerns the eventful career of Houston, whom the Indians called "The Raven," and prominently interweaves the historic, consequential friendship of Houston and Andrew Jackson, who is portrayed by Edward Ellis.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Lionel Barrymore, who introduced the garrulous Dr. Gillespie in a wheelchair in "Young Dr. Kildare," with Lew Ayres, found himself in a strange predicament with the second picture of the series of Max Brand stories, which is at the Capitol Theatre. Barrymore's health has so improved since the first picture was made that he gets around with only the aid of a cane, but because he had already established Gillespie as a cripple who can get around only in a wheelchair he continued to play him that way.

NORMANDIE IN FOURTH YEAR

Crack French Liner Carries 125,000 and Steams 443,918 Miles

Arrival of the French Line flagship Normandie in New York May 29 marked the fourth anniversary of her maiden voyage from Havre. When sailing from New York for France at midnight, May 30, she began her fifth year on the North Atlantic, according to the Empire Shipping Co. Ltd., British Columbia general agents for the French Line.

During four years of service the Normandie has scored a notable record of accomplishment.

The Normandie is 1,029 feet in length, having a tonnage of 83,423.

Since her entry into service she has carried 125,000 passengers.

She has covered 443,918 nautical miles in 841 days at sea, and has maintained an average speed of 28.52 knots.

She has consumed 784,628 tons of fuel oil.

The Normandie has been visited by 850,000 people in New York, Southampton and Havre.

Every time the Normandie arrives in New York she takes on from 55 to 70 tons of foodstuffs.

While at sea June 3 the Normandie celebrated the fourth anniversary of her maiden trans-Atlantic voyage.

Rates to Induce Ocean Travel

In order to encourage trans-Pacific travel among professors and teachers who are taking sabbatical leave, shipping lines of the Pacific westbound conference are experimenting with a special round trip fare of one and a half times the regular one-way fare for such travelers, it is announced by J. J. Forster, steamship general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific.

The special teachers' fares, designed to assist professors and others in the teaching profession in traveling throughout the world on their sabbatical years, will apply to both first and tourist class from Vancouver, Victoria or Honolulu to Orient ports, Yokohama to Manila inclusive. They may be granted to bona fide teachers and professors in the United States and Canada actively engaged in the teaching profession who are properly certified as being on sabbatical leave, for travel westbound from July 1, 1939, to May 31, 1940, inclusive.

Stowaway Back On Coast Penniless

VANCOUVER (CP) — J. "Scotty" Cruickshank was back with his wife and five children today, still as penniless as he was when he signed up as a fireman on a freighter bound for England last February 1.

Scotty did his job on the freighter, all right, but he failed to get credentials when he signed off at the end of the run. Unable to land a job on a returning ship or to get a job in England, he stowed away in the freighter Maplewood, which landed in Montreal from Cardiff late in May.

Cruickshank worked the last part of his return voyage as a stoker and was given a pair of boots and $2 by the captain, who declined to prefer charges against him when they reached Montreal. Then he "rode the rods" of a freight train to get back here.

Bargain Trip to Okanagan Points

Another bargain trip will be operated by Canadian National Railways from Vancouver, Victoria, Nanaimo and New Westminster to Okanagan Valley points as far south as Penticton, and main line stations between Port Mann and Kamloops, including Tranquille, leaving Vancouver at 7.15, Friday evening, June 16. Return limit calls for excursionists to leave destinations Monday evening, June 19, arriving back in Vancouver early Tuesday morning.

Trevalgan Goes to Sea

Harry Barnett, marine surveyor for the London Corporation, returned to the city from Port Alberni after inspecting the British freighter Trevalgan, laden with a cargo of British Columbia lumber for South Africa. He reported the Trevalgan left Port Alberni early this morning.

Ss. NEWTON ASH POUNDED AT SEA

VANCOUVER—From drydock to drydock the British freighter Ss. Newton Ash has wended her way to Vancouver. About the middle of April she was on the drydock at Barry, to have repairs carried out on her hull plates and rivets, the result of heavy weather poundings. Then, all tight and snug, she sailed in ballast for Vancouver to load grain and lumber for United Kingdom.

The ship again encountered heavy weather and was again pounded like a great hollow drum. Rivets again started, small leaks were reported, and when she reached here she headed straight for Burrard drydock.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Weakness at Liverpool, together with scattered liquidation which outweighed support, carried wheat futures prices slightly lower at Winnipeg today. Operations were quiet most of the session and at the close quotations were ⅝ to ⅛ cent lower, July at 62, October 62⅞, November 64¼ and December 64⅜.

Southern interests were credited with most of the selling while exporters and overseas interests appeared to offer minor support on the scale-down.

Liverpool was easier and dropped ¼ to ⅛d. Chicago lost fractions while Buenos Aires was on holiday.

Yesterday's country marketings reached 185,000 bushels against 101,000 for the same day a year ago.

Exporters continued their good demand for the top northern grades in the cash wheat market. Coarse grain trading uncovered moderate export interest in oats and barley.

MAROONED 2 DAYS WITHOUT FOOD

BELLA COOLA (CP) — Two fishermen headed to Rivers Inlet today to engage in sockeye salmon fishing, following repairs to their sailboat which broke down near North Island, Millbank Sound, and left the men marooned for two days without food.

The fishermen had attempted to travel in a small sailboat from Prince Rupert to Rivers Inlet but unfavorable weather forced them to anchor among the islands around Millbank Sound. Heavy seas later almost demolished the craft and food supplies ran out.

They managed to signal Rev. J. Gillett, Indian agent, and T. A. Levelton, who were passing in a launch.

Their boat was towed to this coast town for repairs and the men provisioned for their journey to Rivers Inlet.

Early Losses Cut

NEW YORK—Only a gentle push was necessary to tilt leading stocks downward in today's market.

After some opening hesitancy, prices backed away fractions to around a point. Feeble support came in at the last and extreme losses were reduced in many cases. A handful of issues managed to emerge with modest advances.

The ticker tape was drowsy throughout and transfers for the five hours approximated only 40,000 shares.

Prominent stocks in arrears the greater part of the time—a few were given belated support—were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Sears Roebuck, North American, Westinghouse, Owens-Illinois, Santa Fe and Standard Oil of New Mexico.

Registering modest improvement were Hall Printing, Du Pont and Union Carbide.

Bonds and commodities were irregular.

Life of an Alligator

We might start the story of an alligator with an egg. It is not much larger than a hen's egg. Out of it comes a little animal which may live 200 years or more, and which may grow to be from 10 to 20 feet long.

An alligator's nest is likely to contain from three to five dozen eggs, but sometimes a nest has eight or nine dozen eggs in it. The mother alligator guards the nest, but the warmth of the sunshine makes them hatch.

Florida man lifting an alligator.

When a baby alligator comes from the egg it has a small tooth at the tip of its snout. This is known as the "egg-tooth" and is used to break a hole in the shell at the time of hatching. Soon afterward, the egg-tooth is lost;

The little alligators stay around their mother for some time. Almost at the start of life they are able to snap their jaws and seize food.

The young grow at a fast rate, adding about a foot a year to their length for the first four or five years. Then their growth slows down. At the age of 40 or 50, an alligator may add hardly an inch a year.

Alligators live in rivers and swamps. They spend most of their lives in the water, but also bask in the sun a great deal along the river banks. They are air-breathing animals, and must keep their noses above water except for short periods.

Alligators live mainly on fish, but they also eat birds and small furry animals which may swim near them. They lie still at the surface of the water, with nose and eyes above the surface, and look like logs. That is why some birds and furry animals make the mistake of going close to them.

Many warm parts of the world have crocodiles, but true alligators are found only in the New World and in parts of China. In the New World we have them in some rivers and swamps around the coast of the Gulf of Mexico, especially in Florida, also in a few sections of Georgia and the Carolinas. They are not nearly so common in the wild state on our continent as they were 40 years ago. Alligator farms have been started in Florida and California, however, and thousands of the animals have been raised on such farms. The hides of alligators are of value for leather, and can be used in making traveling cases, billfolds and so on.

Some men have become experts in handling alligators, lifting them and passing them about. The big-jawed animals are dangerous, and may mangle an arm or leg if not held in just the right way.

HOROSCOPE

Friday, June 9, 1939

Although the planetary government for today is not strong, according to astrology, adverse aspects suggest caution in all important decisions and care in conducting business matters.

Deceit, secrecy and even disloyalty are encouraged by the stars under this configuration which presages concern regarding subversive movements and organizations.

Many changes in official posts are prognosticated. Honors and promotions will be numerous and women will receive unusual recognition for high services.

Girls will receive chivalrous tributes under this rule of the stars which encourages reverence rather than sentiment. At several universities there will be ceremonies of unusual significance.

Crops this year should be good, but prices of foodstuffs will be high. Exports of grain will be heavy. Farmers should profit. There may be many pests to destroy crops.

Close relations between Great Britain and the United States may cause disapproval in certain U.S. quarters, but it will prove fortunate in the end for the U.S.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of fortunate activity. Subjects of this sign of Gemini are energetic, restless, adaptable and successful.

Children born on this day probably will be imaginative and sensitive. Many succeed in creative arts such as painting and writing.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"I'd ask for a raise, dear, but the boss has already said he's taking a world cruise this year."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I married my first sweetheart when I was 16, almost two years ago. As my husband did not have a job, we lived with my parents and they have supported us ever since. I knew my husband was wild and drank a great deal, but I thought he would quit and settle down after we were married, but instead he became worse than ever. He is out every night and sometimes all night and comes home drunk, and he won't work. He shows no respect for my parents, who have done so much for him and he has treated me so badly that I have quit caring for him. I would leave him if it wasn't for my baby. Would it be best for her to have a daddy and do without the things she needs and be unhappy because he is a drunkard, or to do without a daddy and let me go to work and support her? Would people look down on her because I divorced her father? V. S.

Answer: Whether a father is an asset or a liability depends upon what kind of a father he is, and certainly the lazy, good-for-nothing, sponging, drunken sot you have given your child will be no credit to her. She will be a thousand times better off without him than with him.

A good father is one of the greatest blessings that any child can have. There is nothing that helps children to grow up into being the right sort of men and women so much as having a father who gives them the security of a home and to whom they look up with almost the reverence and trust that they do to God; who rules them with firmness and justice and loving kindness and wisdom, and to whom they can always go with their troubles and perplexities, sure of understanding and help.

But a bad father is a curse upon those who are unfortunate enough to be his children. He degrades them and shames them. He abuses and mistreats them. His influence only too often drags them down into the pit in which he wallows.

It is a pity that when you married a boy whom you knew to be a wild, drunken ne'er-do-well that you didn't stop to think what sort of a father you were picking out for your children. Girls never seem to think of that. More is the pity. For while they might be willing to risk their own happiness in marrying a worthless man, they might hesitate to inflict on a helpless innocent little child a father who would be too lazy to work and support it; who would beat it in his drunken furies, and who would blight its whole life.

New Veins Found At Privateer Mine

Production for May Worth $101,969 at Zeballos Property

Production of Privateer Mine at Zeballos for the month of May was 2913.42 ounces of fine gold, valued at $101,969.70. Tonnage milled was 2,298 tons and the recovery of gold per ton was 1.268 ounces.

During May an unusually heavy lot of lower grade development ore, including some ore from the Van Isle raise, was fed to the mill, with comparatively little ore drawn from the higher grade stopes.

Drifting has got under way on two of the high grade veins discovered in the course of the surface prospecting campaign the previous month. This drifting is at present with hand steel. Two additional veins of considerable promise have been discovered in further surface prospecting this month. In the raise on the Van Isle vein the grade of the ore appears to be improving as the raise progresses.

In preparation for shaft sinking orders have been placed for a new Ruston diesel engine of 300 horsepower, with electric generators, motors and additional switch board equipment. When this new engine and equipment are installed, all diesel engines in the power house will be driving electric generators, and all compressors and mine machinery, as well as the mill machinery, will be motor-driven, giving a more flexible power installation as well as increased power.

It will be approximately two months before the additional power plant and hoist are available for shaft sinking. Meantime the internal chamber for the hoist and shaft head frame is being cut, and it is intended to have this ready by the time the new machinery is installed. The shaft will be sunk 250 feet to open up two new levels below the 1,100 level.

BRITISH-ISRAELITES

Under the auspices of the British-Israel World Federation (Canada) Inc., the Dominion commissioner, Rev. E. J. Springett addressed a meeting on Tuesday night in the First Baptist Church. Rev. G. A. Reynolds presided.

Mr. Springett took for his subject "The Fulness of the Time," basing his talk on Our Lord's words, Luke xxi, 9, 10, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, and declared that the divine timetable is being gradually fulfilled in this time. This is the generation of which He spoke and which He said should not pass away until all these things be fulfilled," said the speaker. Mr. Springett asked that if the Anglo-Saxon Celtic nations were not Israel, then where was Israel today? "For we were told," he said "that as long as the sun, moon and stars existed, and as day followed night so should Israel exist, and the planets are still in existence,"

THETIS INQUIRY PRESIDENT NAMED

Justice Sir A. Bucknill To Head Investigation; Not Deserting Wreck

LONDON (CP — Sir Alfred Bucknill, a judge of the High Court of Justice, today was named head of a public investigation of the Thetis disaster while reports were denied that the submarine would be left at the bottom of Liverpool Bay with the bodies of 99 men trapped in her.

Prime Minister Chamberlain announced Sir Alfred's appointment in the House of Commons.

"Assessors whose names will be announced shortly will be appointed to assist him," said Mr. Chamberlain.

Earl Stanhope, First Lord of the Admiralty, told the House of Lords there was no authority for reports that because of salvage difficulties and pressure from victims' relatives the sunken submarine would be allowed to stay where she sank. He said salvage work would be continued when weather permitted.

Mr. Chamberlain told the Commons that salvage craft had "temporarily withdrawn" to Liverpool pending favorable weather conditions.

Tree Fruits Ltd. is a grower company preparing contracts for shippers to sign so that the central selling scheme, approved by growers early this year, will go into effect.

CROP CONDITIONS BELOW AVERAGE

Not as Good as Last Year But Better Than 1937, Report Says

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian field crops conditions were moderately below average at the end of May as compared with conditions on the same day a year ago, but showed slight improvement over the same period of 1937, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today in its report from its corps of crop correspondents.

Fall wheat prospects were slightly better than a year ago, but spring wheat conditions in the prairie provinces appeared somewhat less promising compared with last year, when the field crops made a favorable start. Coarse grains also failed to make quite as promising an early showing this year due largely to more irregular precipitation during April and May.

With the exception of British Columbia, pastures and forage crops across Canada did not make as good progress as on the same date last year. The cool, dry weather during May in the Maritime Provinces and Quebec retared pasture growth as in southern Ontario, where a dry spring season kept pastures and forage crops in check.

TANNED DAIRY WASTE

HOLBACK, Denmark—A new method of treating dairy waste water, by adding leather tanning substances to the waste water before formation of lactic acid has begun, to prevent putrefaction and stream pollution, has been patented by A. Beijer here.

Addition of the tanning substance, such as mineral chromium salts, causes the proteins to coagulate and prevents putrefaction.

PARK PLANNED ON VANCOUVER FLATS

Mackenzie Announces Relief Work Scheme For False Creek

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, announced today plans for development of a 26-acre park and recreational centre on False Creek Flats as an unemployment works scheme.

Cost of the project, about $150,000, would be shared on a three-way basis, the city to provide materials and supervision and the Dominion and provincial governments to share the labor costs equally.

Mr. Mackenzie said arrangements had been made with the federal Department of Labor and co-operation of the provincial government and the city council was being sought.

He will meet provincial Attorney-General Gordon Wismer and representatives of the city at a meeting Monday when the plan will be discussed.

Migrant Relief Problem Studied

Dr. Geo. F. Davidson Tells Need of Uniform Rules

Uniformity of intraprovincial and interprovincial regulations governing residence qualifications for social services is one of the first essentials in meeting the problem of migrant individuals and families seeking relief.

This was one of the keynotes of the conference on nonresident relief arranged by the Canadian Welfare Council and held in Ottawa recently, according to Dr. Geo. F. Davidson. He was giving the highlights of the conference at a meeting called under the auspices of the Council of Social Agencies and held last night at the Y.W.C.A.

Another fundamental requisite in the handling of the migrant relief problem was to put the nonresident on the same basis as the resident as far as eligibility for social services is concerned, the conference found. This, it was believed, would materially assist in the rehabilitation of both single men and families, Dr Davidson said.

The conference was of particular interest to British Columbia, in that this province is the mecca of all the western trek of transients from the prairies and from farther east and is also on the receiving end of the bill, he noted. But this concentration of migrants in one province created a serious paradox, for Canada's seasonal occupations depended upon mobility of population, the ability to draw help from other parts of Canada for the harvesting of crops, in the fishing and other seasonal industries.

LOCAL PREJUDICE

The problem was to reconcile this situation with the tendency to deny any relief to transients outside the local area. This prejudice on the part of local communities to the outsider complicated the problem, especially in view of the fact that other services, such schooling, health services, fire and police protection were given to all, irrespective of residence qualifications, Dr. Davidson pointed out.

Committees were set up by the conference to study these problems, with a view to getting intraprovincial uniformity of residence regulations for social service. As evidence of this need, he pointed out that in British Columbia alone, prior to 1932, there had been 11 different pieces of legislation covering the social services, all different residence regulations.

After intraprovincial residence rules had been made to conform, it was hoped to secure intraprovincial uniformity by means of reciprocal agreements, thus ensuring smoother administration to the benefit both of the migrants themselves and the people who foot the bills, the speaker said.

Dr. R. Felton presided, in the absence of the president, Mr. F. E. Winslow.

When she became Queen, Marie Antoinette incurred the wrath of the French people because she refused to let them watch her eat. Frenchmen believed this pleasure was their inalienable right, as they long had enjoyed the custom of watching the King and Royal Family partake of meals.

Swift Firm Has Birthday

'Open House' Being Held Today and Tomorrow at Store Street Plant

SWIFT'S MANAGER—A. C. Lindsay, manager of the Victoria branch of the Swift Canadian Company, who is host to visitors at the company's Store Street plant today and tomorrow, celebrating the firm's 33rd birthday in Victoria.

In honor of its 33rd birthday in Victoria the Swift Canadian Company Limited is holding open house and many Victorians are today visiting the fine modern plant on Store Street, at the foot of Fisguard, on the invitation of A. C. Lindsay, manager of the local branch.

Again tomorrow, from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m., the plant will be open to the public and visitors will be shown through the various departments.

It was in 1905 that the Swift Company, founded 50 years ago by Gustavus Franklin Swift, opened its Victoria branch at the foot of Yates Street. The first branch manager was Oscar W. Pearson, now district manager for western Canada.

Mr. Lindsay, one of Victoria's popular younger business men, joined the Swift company, which is famous for its fairness to its employees, in 1918, and ten years later was named manager of the Kamloops branch.

After 12 years in the interior city, Mr. Lindsay came to Victoria as manager.

The Victoria staff of the company has been here a long time, the average of employees' service in the branch being 18 years.

The Swift plant in Victoria is as modern as any in North America. Victorians who buy produce from this firm will be able to see, tonight and tomorrow, just how meat, eggs and butter and other perishables are handled by experts. Cleanliness is of first importance and government regulations are rigidly enforced.
